APPROVAL OF FOREIGN AID BILL IS URGED

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—War with Russia is not inevitable, Chairman Richards (D-SC) of the house foreign affairs committee said today in pleading for support of a $7,848,750,000 foreign aid program.

The common defenses being built by the United States and its Allies will be "so strong that Russia will not dare to attack," Richards asserted in a speech prepared for the opening session of house debate on the big assistance program.

He cautioned against isolationism, urged the house to forget partisanship and pleaded for no further reductions beyond the $651,250,000 his committee cut from the $8,500,000,000 requested by President Truman.

This plea obviously was aimed at GOP-backed drive to chop as much as another billion dollars from the program when the crucial voting comes, probably tomorrow.

Here are the committee's cuts and the amounts requested originally by the president:

Europe: Cut $285,000,000 in military and $340,000,000 in economic aid, from requests of $5,293,000,000 and $1,675,000,000.

Near East and Africa: No cuts in the $415,000,000 sought for military aid, and a $50,000,000 increase over the $365,000,000 requested for economic help.

Asia and Pacific Areas: Cut $25,000,000 in economic aid and the same amount in military aid from requests for $555,000,000 and $265,500,000 respectively.

Rehabilitation aid for Korea: Cut $101,250,000 from $112,250,000. The $11,250,000 approved was referred to as a down payment on later outlays for Korea.

American Republics: No cuts from $40,000,000 requested for military aid and $22,000,000 for economic help.

Richards said the committee cuts represented the unanimous judgment of the group as to how and where funds could be saved without harming the program. Further cuts, he claimed, would slow down the world defense program at a time when speed is essential and would delay the approaching day when America's friends will be able to pay their own defense bills.

Mystery of Killing of American O. S. S. Officer in Italy 7 Years Ago Solved

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—A cold-blooded "deuce of spades" killing of an American cloak-and-dagger officer behind enemy lines in Italy seven years ago has been solved, the defense department said yesterday.

The department declared Maj. William V. Holohan, then 40, was killed by two fellow American servicemen with the aid of two Italians. All were attached to an Office of Strategic Services (OSS) mission parachuted into enemy territory to get the low-down on partisan guerrilla bands.

One of the former U. S. servicemen denied any connection with the killing; the other withheld comment.

Named by the department as the principals in the case were: Aldo Icardi, then a 23-year-old lieutenant, formerly of Pittsburgh but now employed in New York City. The department said in a formal mimeographed announcement that Icardi hatched the plot in a disagreement with Holohan over how much arms aid to give to Communist partisans.

Carl G. LoDolce, then a sergeant from Rochester, N. Y. The department said LoDolce "drew the two of spades" and thus got the assignment of shooting Holohan when Icardi decided poison given him earlier might not be effective.

At his home in Preakness, N. J., Icardi denied any part in the killing and said he assumed it may have been done by two Italians who, the department said, had told the entire story.

"The Department of Defense has gone way off base in assuming I am implicated," Icardi told a reporter. "I deny any connection with the killing."

In Rochester, LoDolce's wife, Rudy, said "my husband does not want to make any statement until he finds out what it is all about." She said he has been studying under the GI bill at the Rochester Institute of Technology.

The Defense Department said it and the Justice Department have been poring over lawbooks seeking a way to prosecute Icardi and LoDolce in this country, and it added: "all possibilities have now been exhausted and it appears that the only hope of prosecution lies with action by the Italian courts."

The Italian embassy declined comment on whether it would seek to have the two men sent back to Italy for trial.

Reporters Are Admonished By Truman They Are Working Politics to the Vanishing Point

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—President Truman said today there are plenty people ambitious to be president, but they don't know what they are getting into.

That was his latest comment on presidential possibilities for 1952 almost a year before the nominating conventions. He didn't name anyone.

At the same time, he admonished reporters that they are working politics to the vanishing point when there are plenty of other things more important to talk about.

The president said the Japanese peace treaty will be signed and he does not think the signing arrangements can be upset by anybody. This was in reply to a question whether he believes Russia's decision to attend the San Francisco treaty ceremony next month would "damage" such arrangements.

Asked about reports that Gen. Douglas MacArthur would attend and speak at the treaty signing, he said he did not know but the deposed Pacific commander would be welcome. He added it would be all right with him if the State Department invited MacArthur, but added that ambassador John Foster Dulles, who handled treaty negotiations, had covered the situation pretty well.

Politics, as usual of late, broke open today's news conference. A reporter commented that General Dwight D. Eisenhower is not a candidate and Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) isn't either, so "who is left, besides you?"

Mr. Truman said he could not answer that. Then he added there are plenty of people ambitious for the job.

He was told that Senator Douglas had promised to support him if he were a candidate and was asked whether he would welcome such support. He said he would if he were a candidate.

The president declined comment on a series of questions about "McCarthyism," especially the statement by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that Communism in government would be an issue next year in the campaign.

Asked to comment on a magazine poll in which Douglas was voted the "best senator" and McCarthy the "worst," Mr. Truman said a similar poll was conducted when he was in the senate and it found him in the same position as the current poll, on Douglas. He said he compliments Douglas on being in that position.

In reply to another question, he described as good, fair, and truthful an article in Look Magazine by Henry Steele Commager, professor of history at Columbia, which a reporter said was very favorable to the president.

Armistice Negotiators Divert Cease-Fire Talks Into New Phase to Avert Break

TWO HUMAN GUINEA PIGS DIE IN TEST

Vermillion, S. D., Aug. 16—(AP)—Dr. Donald Slaughter, dean of the University of South Dakota Medical School, said today the death of two "human guinea pigs" in a drug experiment occurred when a doctor on his staff "picked up the wrong bottle."

The staff doctor, whose name was withheld pending an inquest, had planned to participate in the experiment himself, along with a fourth person.

Dr. Slaughter said the staff physician called him after injections had been given to Jack Clifford, 30, laboratory technician, and Mrs. Ardy's Pearson, 26, a secretary. The injections were given Tuesday afternoon and Clifford and Mrs. Pearson died 24 hours later.

Dr. Slaughter said all known antidotes were given without effect after his assistant phoned to say: "I've made a mistake."

Dr. Slaughter said sworn statements by persons present when the tests were conducted were to be given to representatives of the state criminal investigator's office.

The tests involved combination of drugs to study pain-killer effects, Dr. Slaughter said. He termed such experiments common to all medical schools and said he and associates conducted "thousands of similar tests," beginning in 1933 in Dallas, Texas.

The experiment in this particular test, Dr. Slaughter said called for the use of a morphine, sedative drug and a cortisone, a new drug which is being used in treatment of arthritis and allied conditions.

Notables Gather For Hearst Rites On Coast Friday

San Francisco, Aug. 16—(AP)—Distinguished Americans—statesmen, newspapermen, financiers and friends—began arriving here today for the funeral of William Randolph Hearst, set for 11 a. m. (PDT) tomorrow.

The body of the 88-year-old publisher lay in state at Grace Episcopal Cathedral here, the city in which he founded his vast multi-million dollar journalistic empire.

According to wishes expressed before his death in Beverly Hills, California, he will be interred at Cypress Lawn cemetery, just south of San Francisco, where the bodies of his parents rest.

Among the three-score honorary pallbearers appeared the names of such men as ex-president Herbert Hoover, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, elder statesman Bernard Baruch, former vice president John Nance Garner, California governor Earl Warren, movie magnate Louis B. Mayer and publishers Arthur Hays Sulzberger, Mrs. Ogden Reid and Col. Rupert McCormick.

Hearst's widow, Mrs. Millicent Willson Hearst, from whom he had long been separated, arrived here today by chartered plane from New York with John Hearst, one of their five sons.

QUICKIES

By Ken Reynolds

Harrisburg, Aug. 16—(AP)—Pennsylvania's housewives will be able to buy colored oleomargarine within 24 hours after a proposed bill is enacted—provided it becomes law.

The bill, now in the senate after winning house approval, comes up for a final vote on Monday when the legislature returns to work next week.

Meanwhile, an official of a local wholesale distributing firm, Edward Gerber, says oleo manufacturers have assured him they will have truckloads of oleo loaded for shipment to retailers if the bill becomes law.

Severe Storm Causes Damage in the Borough

THIS BIG TREE CRASHED down in front of the Dewey House residence, 18 Central avenue, blocking entrance to the home, tearing away the awning, and clipping the top from a tree in front of the house place.

Heavy, lashing rains and a severe electrical storm swept portions of Warren and Chautauque counties in two vicious attacks during the night, with the result that considerable damage was done to lines of the Pennsylvania Electric Company while the Bell Telephone Company reported "No damage at all" in a survey made this morning.

Several large trees in the borough were either uprooted or split in two. An immense tree on the Robert Schenholm property, Central avenue, fell onto the Dewey House residence, 18 Central avenue, blocking the front porch and tearing away an awning; and, in falling, this tree clipped the top from a large maple in front of the house.

A large maple in front of the Harry Cromwell home, 10 S. Carver street, was split through the middle but had been chained together by afternoon in an effort to save it.

The Penelec had all electric lines repaired and service restored by 4:30 a. m. today. Current was off for several hours in various parts of the county, including Warren, Pleasant township, Youngsville and Pittsfield. Twenty transformers were out of order at one time and one transformer at Pittsfield was completely burned out.

Penelec crews were called out at 8:30 to start work in various communities. The 6900-volt line which feeds all lines north to Sugar Grove and the state line was burned out and the 4800-volt line in Pleasant township was burned out in several places. Penelec reported that falling limbs caused most of its damage.

Most of the towns around Chautauque Lake were darkened, and falling trees blocked the Watts Flatts-Blockville road until this morning.

The Borough fire department answered four alarms during the peak of the storm. The first call, at 10:02 p. m., was to Redwood street and Verbeck avenue where wires were shooting out, as was the case when the department was called at 10:35 to 201 Lincoln avenue. At 10:35, Engines 1 and 2 and the ladder truck answered a call to the Bartsch Furniture store, 60 Pennsylvania avenue, east, where a large neon sign had developed a short circuit. The firemen laid the lines, was passed by the house in top-sid fashion. It legalizes sale of colored oleo at stores for home use only.

An identical measure, which started in the senate, was passed yesterday by an equally one-sided score of 45-4. At the same time the senate advanced the house bill and placed it in position for a vote.

Final passage of the house bill would send the measure to Gov. John S. Fine. He then would have 10 days to act upon it. The bill becomes law effective immediately after his signature.

While both house and senate has passed its own colored oleo bills—both branches must pass the same measure to clear it through the assembly.

$50,000,000 Made In Six Years By Bootlegging Outfit

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—A retired treasury intelligence employee told the senate crime committee today Abner (Longie) Zwillman was a kingpin in a bootlegging syndicate which made $50,000,000 in six years.

Edwin Baldwin of Summit, N. J., testified this mob handled 40 per cent of all illicit liquor brought into the U. S. during prohibition.

Baldwin described Zwillman and Joseph Rheinfield as top men in this northern New Jersey bootlegging syndicate, and commented:

"I worked on the Waxey Gordon and Dutch Schultz (former New York and New Jersey gangsters) cases, and they were pikers compared to the Rheinfield syndicate."

The crime committee, conducting its last three days of open hearings, had sought Zwillman as a key witness but so far he has evaded subpoena servors. He has been reported at sea on yachts in the Atlantic.

The committee today began delving into gangster influences in the 28th Division Launches an Offensive Against Strong "Aggressor" Forces

Fort Bragg, N. C., Aug. 16—(AP)—The 28th Infantry Division launched an offensive against strong "aggressor" forces this morning as exercise "Southern Pine" moved into its fourth day.

The 28th Division has relieved all elements of the 82nd Airborne Division at the front and is now "carrying the ball" on the south flank of the maneuver corridor.

Tight security restrictions prevented identification of actual units and their particular missions. But it was known that the 1st and 2nd battalions of the 106th Infantry Regiment and the 1st and 3rd Battalions of the 110th Infantry Regiment were the "on line" units during the initial attack.

Yesterday, division units spent the day consolidating their front position amid harassing attacks by "aggressor" aircraft which "hold the upper hand over the maneuver area."

Several "enemy" prisoners were taken last night during counter battery duels.

The Pennsylvanians of the 28th were finding it almost as hard to battle the elements in North Carolina as it is to fight the enemy. Heat is the greatest problem, but now, after several days without rain, the sandy roads of the maneuver area have been turned into "dust bowls."

Traffic and occasional winds blow the fine sand dust into everything and force soldiers to clean weapons and other equipment several times a day.

Controlling the entire action of the 28th Division at the front are a corps of nearly 500 umpires.

JOINT GROUP WORKING TO SOLVE ISSUE

Munsan, Korea, Aug. 16—(AP)—Truce talks moved into a new and informal phase today as Allies and Reds sought to break their long impasse over a demarcation line.

Negotiators created a small subcommittee to try to untangle the snarl over where a demarcation line should be drawn between opposing armies.

It was the most encouraging step they have taken thus far toward solving this particular issue.

The change in tactics came amid growing, but cautious, optimism the Reds may be willing to compromise on their demand for a demarcated zone back along the 38th parallel. The Allies want it right where they are now, along the present battlefield in defensible terrain.

The subcommittee, consisting of two delegates from each side, was created Thursday. It will hold its first meeting at 11 a. m. today, (8 p. m. Thursday, EST).

Its members will meet informally in Kaesong where formal, full dress negotiations have been locked over this same point for more than three weeks.

The U. N. command said it will issue no communiqués during these meetings. And the press will not be briefed on what happened. The purpose is to allow the negotiators complete freedom in trying to find a satisfactory recommendation.

There was no indication how long the problem might be in the hands of the subcommittee.

Daily sessions of the full, seven-man delegations will be suspended while the smaller group works.

The subcommittee idea was advanced Wednesday by Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U. N. delegate. He suggested a small group meeting informally might solve the question which has stymied conferences of the full delegations for 16 consecutive meetings.

The Communists accepted in a 55 minute session Thursday—the shortest since talks started July 10.

North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, chief Communist negotiator, proposed two delegates from each side instead of one as Joy suggested.

The U. N. accepted.

The change permitted Nam Il to name both a Red Korean and a Chinese general to the subcommittee. He appointed North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Song Cho and

Routine Business Is Discussed at the August Meeting of Boro School Board

There was only routine business to come before the Warren Borough School Board when last evening's meeting was called to order by the president, Melvin G. Keller. It was decided to hold the September meeting on the tenth because the regular schedule would place the meeting on Labor Day. Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge was the only absent member last night, being unable to attend.

Receipts from the State in the medical and dental program for May and June were reported in the amount of $643.50.

An application was received from the Field and Stream Club, and approval given, for the Dragon Band to appear at Wilder Field, Saturday, Sept. 15, at 3 p. m., at which time the Club is having a field day.

The Board decided to approve the request of Miss Jean Steele, of New Castle, commercial teacher, for a two weeks leave of absence in early November. Miss Steele has been asked to accompany her aunt, a physician, to meetings of the American College of Surgeons in San Francisco and Honolulu, as secretary and companion.

The request of the Boy Scouts through their executive, Rut Sanford, for permission to make a Boy Scout fact survey, was approved.

The Board approved for payment bills in the amount of $655 for special services, covering salaries for Dan Lounsbury, adult driver training, and Harry A. Summers, summer band instructor.

In addition to approving an expenditure for $200 for janitors' substitutes, the Board authorized the incurrence and payment of gasoline and oil bills for July, August and September.

It was reported that the tuition calculation for the coming school year, 1951-52, has been completed and sent to the State for approval. The auditor's report for the past year was presented.

Orders were written for July maintenance, repairs and operation in the amount of $9,956.94, with the capital outlay reported as $3,810.80.

The buildings and grounds committee reported a request from the Seneca P. T. A. for permission to hold an ice cream social on Tuesday, Sept. 18, from 4:30 until 7 p. m. It also reported the purchase of miscellaneous supplies totalling $347.03, and employment of Richard Bloese as a janitor.

The text books and supplies committee reported for approval purchases amounting to $7,240.64, this including art supplies, library, home-making, office and institutional supplies.

The teachers' committee reported for approval the request of Mrs. Joyce Erickson Christensen for a leave of absence covering the coming school year, due to ill health. Mrs. Christensen teaches third grade at McClintock school. The finance committee reported for payment bills in the amount of $5,748.44.

LASSIE TOUGH HOMBRE IN "PAINTED HILLS"

Lassie, M-G-M's popular canine star, enacts the toughest role of his career in M-G-M's dramatic new Technicolor picture, "The Painted Hills," in which he appears on the White Way Drive-In theatre screen.

During the course of the action-filled story, Lassie is poisoned, engages in three rough-and-tumble fights with Bruce Cowling, swims across mountain streams, climbs rocky cliffs, rescues Paul Kelly from a mine cave-in, is shot by Cowling and falls into a rocky gorge.

Moreover, the dog star had to withstand below freezing temperatures during the picture's outdoor filming on location in the California High Sierras. Nevertheless, Lassie comes through with flying colors and, with the help of boy actor Gary Gray, succeeds in avenging the death of his beloved master, Paul Kelly.

The new picture is based on the novel, "Sheep of the Painted Hills," by Alexander Hull, with the screen play by True Boardman. The film was directed by Harold F. Kress and was produced by Chester M. Franklin.

LABOR SUPPLY SHORT

According to a report from North East, labor supply for both farm work, fruit and vegetable processing and industrial processes is apparently becoming increasingly difficult for solution. As a result, increasing numbers of Puerto Ricans are being brought into the area. Charles Rath, manager of the Brant Growers Co-operative, which is handling the supply of most of the Puerto Ricans destined for farm and processing plant work in Chautauque and Erie counties, reports that his organization has already imported 880 and another 300 will be arriving starting this week, largely for processing plant work.

FRENCH PREMIER NEEDS BREAK

The West can be gratified that Rene Plevin is the new French premier. He is probably the strongest middle-of-the-road leader in France today.

In his earlier premiership this year, Plevin exhibited more character and drive than any French minister has shown since World War II. He made a fine impression during his hasty visit to the United States.

Plevin faces some thorny issues. Rearmament and its impact on the French economy, the revival of a German army as part of the European defense force, the granting and development of air bases for the United States, these top the list.

In any realistic political framework, Plevin would be judge and his regime would stand or fall on how it meets these key issues. But, unluckily, French cabinets in recent years have been collapsing over domestic questions which often bear little or no relation to the critical world scene.

For the sake of Western solidarity in the building of effective defenses against Russia, it is to be hoped that henceforth the French people will gauge their leaders' performance more broadly.

A GOOD TIME WAS HAD BY ALL

If future East German Youth Festivals could be counted on to work out like this year's, the Western powers might be persuaded to finance them. For there's good reason to believe we got more propaganda out of the affair than the Russians did.

Western authorities estimate that some 300,000 Communist-directed youngsters defied their masters and sneaked across Berlin's zonal boundaries into West Berlin. They sampled Western food, window-shopped, and saw all the other signs and sights in the free world.

Only the most elaborate Red roadblocks finally reduced this curious flow to a trickle. The whole spectacle must have been pretty dismaying to the Kremlin.

And unless the Reds resort to extremes to isolate the youths who strayed into forbidden territory, the kids back home are going to get a real earful.

EARLY HELPED MAKE HISTORY

Stephen T. Early, press secretary to President Roosevelt and later to President Truman, was a public servant of wisdom and high devotion. He was no ordinary press agent, but a thoughtful counselor and an experienced workman who knew how to get things accomplished.

More recently, he won a Distinguished Service Medal for his part in unifying the armed services while he was with the Defense Department.

Early's place in the turbulent history of the last two decades is assured.

Thirty-nine business places of Warren are participating in the Dollar Day sales event scheduled for Friday and Saturday, which means that a wider variety of bargains is being offered during this stupendous money saving project than ever before in the history of merchandising in the borough. Don't fail to take advantage of the opportunity offered to save money on needed articles for the coming months. Be sure and study the advertisements in this issue before starting on your shopping expedition. Make a list of your needs for the fall and winter, and make your purchases when prices are at their lowest.

An article elsewhere in this issue reminds the season for the ever popular community fairs is rapidly approaching. The Community Fair, such as the people of Youngville and Sugar Grove stage each year, really a vest-pocket edition of the old county fair and exposition, has become quite an institution in this and other counties. Present indications are that the fairs at Sugar Grove and Youngville this fall will attract even larger crowds than ever before, and because of the favorable growing conditions it is anticipated the displays may be better than the average.

The sympathy of many friends goes out to the family of Mrs. P. W. M. Pressel, who passed away at the hospital Wednesday. One of the gracious and homelike residents of Conewango Place, she was generally admired and esteemed by a host of friends who mourn her passing.

They Won't Hold Water

Here And There

Comes now the time to remind again that the Buffalo Bloodmobile unit will be at Red Cross headquarters, 404 Market street, next Wednesday, back on the old schedule of hours, from ten until 3:45 o'clock. This is an important visitation and confronts the community with another obligation that will require plenty of cooperation from those eligible to assist. The quota for the visit Wednesday will be 150 pints of whole blood. Already Chapter workers are contacting prospective donors, but this is no reason why any person should wait to be solicited. If you are within the age limit and have not given blood in sixty days, call Headquarters, 2926, and say you'll be on hand. Those in charge anticipate that the list of eligible prospects will naturally be reduced because of the vacation season, coupled with the usual number of persons suffering from summer illnesses. Warren set an excellent record on the occasion of the July visit of the Bloodmobile when the quota of 175 pints was exceeded, and those in charge are not only hopeful but determined that at least 150 pints will be secured next Wednesday. Don't wait! Sign up now! Help make the work of the Bloodmobile committees easier by calling Headquarters at your earliest convenience.

This 'n' That: "Just who was sopping windows last night?" asked a Scandia lady Wednesday afternoon in the grocery store at the crossroads there; "seems to me they're starting pretty early this year!" ... Reports of freak weather conditions came in from two sections of the county Wednesday: Down at Irvine workers at the National Forge said that a dark cloud swooped into the valley about noon, similar to the one that turned day into night last September 24th, and for a time the section was blacked out; at about the same time two Pennsylvania Railroad officials en route to Warren and Irvine from Buffalo said they encountered a rain storm of such intensity between Sugar Run and Kinzua that they had to pull alongside the highway and stop until it let up ... Had a couple interesting visitors late Wednesday afternoon from Ontario, Canada, in Jane Devitt, Smith Falls, Ontario, guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, Hertzler street, and Ed Weese, reporter on the Ottawa Journal, who were quite surprised on being taken on a tour of the plant to find such a well-equipped newspaper office in a town the size of Warren ... Boy Scout Council officials and committee, planning for the annual meeting to be held next January 26th, are aiming high in the choice of a speaker to be invited to the affair, but pending acceptance of an invitation no names will be mentioned ... Officials of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Firemen's Association inaugurated a custom during the past week it is hoped will set an example for other individuals and groups to follow, when they brought handsome floral baskets to Warren and placed them at the foot of the Soldiers and Sailors Monument, Hickory street and Pennsylvania avenue, and at the new stone at War Memorial Field; the baskets had been presented the organization and were used as decorations for the hall at the opening of the old-time ball teams in possession of Ray Eckhardt is exciting much interest among fans; it is that of the nine sponsored by Joe Grotzinger, and consisted of such players as Swanson, Trebeau, Weaver, Anderson, Huntzinger, Lavery, Downing, Paris, Lytle and Campbell ... Placement of a press box on Loveland Field highlighted an otherwise routine meeting of the Corry board of education this week, when it was reported that the Beaver Club has applied for permission to erect a tower and press box on top of it on the east side of the field and back of the bleachers ... Many area sport writers are of the opinion that Oil City High will have the nucleus for the strongest Oilers eleven in many years with Coach Kaufman having ten lettermen to draw from the undefeated 1950 Junior High team.

WASHINGTON COLUMN ★

Liberal or Conservative Is Main Issue in GOP Battle

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Behind the coming fight for control over Pennsylvania's 70 delegates to the 1952 Republican convention in Chicago is an involved story of state politics, state finances and conflicting state legislative programs.

Pennsylvania's state constitution prohibits an indebtedness of over a million dollars, unless it is approved by the legislature and referendum. To get around this, the state has created "authorities"—a general authority, a bridge authority, a highway authority.

These authorities have the power to issue bonds and to contract debts for public works. Today the total of this indebtedness is roughly $600 million. It was $81 million when Gov. (now Senator) James H. Duff took over from Gov. (now U. S. Senator) Edward Martin. And there's a big drive on to blame Gov. Duff for building up all this indebtedness.

To service this debt, Gov. John S. Fine, Duff's successor and previously considered his man, proposed a budget of $1,220 million for 1951-52. To raise this amount he proposed a flat state income tax of 5% on every $1000, plus a 25 per cent increased tax on corporate net income.

THERE is now a wage tax levied in Philadelphia county. It applies also to residents of surrounding counties working in Philadelphia. Duff's position is explained as a belief that a state flat wage tax might easily lose Pennsylvania for the Republicans in 1952.

In shaping this tax program, the door of Gov. Fine was thrown open to G. Mason Owlett. He is president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association and spokesman for the Pennsylvania regular Republican machine, long headed by Joseph R. Grundy.

In Gov. Duff's administration, this door was closed to Owlett. The story is that Owlett proposed a state tax on unincorporated businesses. Because this would hit small business, Duff would have none of it.

Their fight really narrows down to the issue of whether the Republican party in Pennsylvania shall follow the so-called liberal and progressive line, or whether it shall remain rock-ribbed and conservative.

Before he left the governorship, Duff pointed with pride to his record. He claimed that Pennsylvania led the nation in highway construction. It planned extension of the toll turnpike to Ohio and New Jersey, with new spurs north to go to Erie.

STREAM pollution was attacked to improve public health. State mental hospitals were cleaned up after sensational exposure. Educational facilities were improved and teachers' salaries raised.

It is claimed the Duff administration levied $133 million in new taxes to pay for $150 million obligations incurred by the Martin administration. While it was predicted the Duff administration itself would end with a $90 million deficit, Duff claims he left it with a surplus of $18 million in the general fund plus a $49 million surplus in the motor fund.

All this and more, the Grundy-Owlett faction of the party disputes most emphatically. They picture Duff as a completely phony liberal, built up by a Steve Hannegan press agent. Though he served four years as state attorney general and was hand-picked by Gov. Martin as his successor, it is now claimed Duff was a Republican compromise. Grundy-Owlett followers claim Duff thought he could maintain control of this machine from Washington, through Gov. Fine, and so dominate the state in national as well as local politics.

Financially, it is claimed the Duff administration left the state $112 million in the hole.

A quantity of cut stone to be used in the construction of the new Post Office building at the corner of Liberty street and Third avenue has arrived, but the real work of building has not yet been commenced.

No change is reported in the condition of Gilbert Olson, Parker street, whose skull was badly fractured when he was kicked by a horse while working on his father's farm at Starbuck.

Damage estimated at about $3,000 was caused this morning by a fire at Kinzua which completely destroyed the two-story frame hotel building owned by H. R. French. The Sheffield pumper was called and did fine work in protecting nearby structures, but they were unable to save the hotel.

Lawrence Funsy, Boy Scout of Troop 1, Warren, qualified for the high rank of Eagle Scout at Camp Olmsted this year.

Ten members of the Deerhorn Club will leave on a special car Sunday morning for Pine Lake, Bonfield, Ontario, Canada, where they will enjoy the next two weeks in camp. Those who are making the trip in the party are the following from Warren: Clarence W. Beckley, Dr. O. S. Brown, Sherman Brown, D. W. Crossett, George Eberhardt, A. E. Johnson, R. W. Mackay, W. R. Scheilhammer and W. E. Yeager.

War Bulletin: President Roosevelt due back in Washington after historic meeting at sea with Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

The government ordered gasoline rationing for the east today, and straightaway the man at the fuel pump assumed new importance in the eyes of 10,000,000 motorists. The rationing calls for a ten per cent slash in deliveries. The order, without precedent in peacetime, involves no issuance of ration cards.

At a special meeting of Warren Lodge of Moose held Wednesday, 119 candidates were initiated into the order.

Frances Mary, Scallise, Fourth avenue, became the bride of Goodrich Ralph Whitmore, of Erie, this morning at St. Patrick's church in Erie.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Rosenberg, of Grand Valley, are the parents of a daughter, born at 4:20 a. m. today.

Slamming Sammy Sneed led a score of the nation's top golfers into the second round of the $5,000 Times Union Open today. His opening round 67 gave him the lead.

The War Department announced today a contract to the Struthers Wells-Titusville Corp., Titusville, for forgings, $464,835.

SUFFERER BROKEN FINGER
City Councilman Thomas McCarty rode through the entire Centennial parade Saturday at Erie, without knowing he had a broken finger. McCarty said he suffered the injury as he saddled himself atop his horse "Shelt." After the parade the finger began to swell and hospital x-rays showed the fracture, McCarty said.

PRODUCTION CURTAILMENT
A report from Erie says that approximately 200 workers will be laid off by the Erie Tacon plant. It was announced today by J. V. Childs, plant manager. The first production curtailment, scheduled for Friday, will take place in the chain machine department, "with the other operations being completed in succeeding days," according to Childs. Childs attributed the lay offs to "the condition of the clothing market."

ROAD PROJECT
Titusville Herald: To preserve the life of the highway, maintenance forces of the highway department will soon begin an important sub-sealing project on Route 8 from a point north of Hydetown to Centerville. David McKinley, county highway superintendent, said the work is scheduled to begin August 22. The men will drill holes in two rows in the concrete about 10 feet apart and pump hard-type asphalt under the pavement.

LOTTERY MEASURE
A proposal to legalize state lotteries in Pennsylvania is before the General Assembly. Rep. Edward Dunn (R-Northumberland) offered a bill last night which would establish a state lottery commission to operate the lotteries. The commission would hold four lotteries a year, selling tickets at $1 each through state liquor stores. Twenty-five per cent of the revenue would be earmarked for lottery prizes with the remainder going into the state treasury.

MERCANTILE TAX
Titusville's City Council Monday night passed a revised mercantile tax ordinance on final reading. The new measure is designed to plug loopholes which developed in the former ordinance. The minimum license fee has been jumped from $5 to $10 but the other rates remain the same—one mill for retail and a half mill for wholesale businesses. Council members estimated the revised measure will bring in an additional $5,000 a year more than the old ordinance.

CHAUTAUQUA POPULATION
Chautauqua county's final official population total in the 1950 census was 135,189, the Census Bureau has announced. This compares with a total of 123,580 in 1940. Final figures were published only for counties and for cities of more than 100,000 population, although very detailed census data was delivered to the joint legislative reapportionment committee for the state which is preparing to redistrict the state for the congressional and state legislative elections next year.

WARREN GOLFERS WIN
Golfers from the Conewago Valley Country Club won many of the honors at Wanago Country Club, Oil City, yesterday, when women from seven counties met for a Northwestern Pennsylvania tournament. Mrs. Marie Hamilton with a 28, won the low putt event. Second low net in the second division was captured by Mrs. William Moore with 103-32-71. In the third division, Mrs. Fred Emhardt took honors with a 104-32-72. The next association match will be in Corry, Friday, August 24, for A division golfers only. It will be a best-ball foursome.

White House Primary Tests Are Set For Spring in Two Western States

Washington—(AP)—Politicians planned presidential primary tests next spring for President Truman on the Democratic ticket in Oregon, and for General Dwight Eisenhower on the Republican slate in Minnesota. Neither man has said yet whether he'll be a candidate in the 1952 elections but their supporters didn't seem to let that bother them.

Monroe Sweetland, state Democratic chairman in Oregon, called on the president. Sweetland told reporters he assured Mr. Truman his name "definitely" will be entered in the Oregon primary next May.

Sweetland also said he told the president it is the "overwhelming sentiment" of Oregon Democrats that Mr. Truman run again. Sweetland gave no indication of the president's reaction, but didn't report any discouragement.

Sweetland also said a move is underway to enter Senator Douglas (D-III) in the Oregon presidential primary. A candidate doesn't have to consent to have his name entered in that state.

Meanwhile, Republican Senator Thye of Minnesota predicted Eisenhower would sweep Minnesota's Republican presidential primary next March 18, if his name is entered.

Thye said he wouldn't be at all surprised if Eisenhower is represented in the balloting. He told a reporter he would back the general if Eisenhower is available and if not, he'd support Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor and now president of the University of Pennsylvania.

Other sources reported a possibility that if Eisenhower hasn't committed himself by March 18, Stassen could seek the Minnesota Republican convention delegation with an understanding he would deliver it to Eisenhower if the general decides to run.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), generally regarded as a contender for the Republican presidential nomination, has indicated he doesn't want to run in the Minnesota primary. But he has strong supporters there and some of them may decide to drop in his name.

Minnesota's primary is the first in which a candidate doesn't have to consent to be entered.

Sweetland said there also is talk in Oregon of entering Eisenhower in both the Republican and Democratic primaries. But he pointed out a state law requires a candidate to have declared his party affiliation by April 6. And Eisenhower, who has disclaimed political ambitions, hasn't said yet whether he's a Republican or Democrat.

Yugoslavia Repatriates Greek Children

In compliance with recommendations of the United Nations General Assembly, Yugoslavia has been repatriating to Greece a number of Greek children removed from their homeland during the post-war guerrilla struggle in that part of the world. Above, one of the touching scenes which took place near the Greek frontier station of Idhomeni upon the reunion of a mother with her two children.

College Tub-Thumpers Busy, and Here They Are With Swivel Hips

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

New York—(NEA)—Sports editors are now hearing about—well, let's take the Alabama j. rior, Bobby Marlow, "the best running back the south has produced."

Men, that covers a fair stretch of ground.

Or we might hop down to Miami or Coral Gables, and do a piece on sophomore Pud Constantino, "the most effective back who ever strayed south."

Wyoming offers Harry Geldien, "who tops anyone they have at Army," and so on down the line.

The college tub-thumpers are busy again, you see, which means that the autumn bumping business isn't far away.

With the armed forces taking many youngsters, in many instances the platoons get back in the Army, where they came from.

The colleges haven't been hit nearly as hard as they expected to be when all save the Ivy League and the Southwest Conference waived the freshman rule, however, for a good share of the pouncing freshmen and swivel-hipped backs are enrolled in Army and Navy ROTC programs.

Full Share of Name Players
Graduation causes a tremendous turn-over, of course, but there are a full share of name players. The monickers of Ohio State's Vic Janowicz, Illinois' Johnny Karr, Nebraska's Bobby Reynold, Oklahoma's Billy Vessels, Kentucky's Babe Parilli, Tennessee's Hank Lauricella, Texas A. and M.'s Rapid Robert Smith and Princeton's Dick Kazmaier come to mind offhand and just like that.

At Army, Red Blaik has replaced the guards that were shoved around by Navy with Capt. Hal Loeblein, former defensive end, and Jack Chamblin, a B-squad man. Otherwise, the Black Knights will be as swift and hard-hitting as ever.

Navy now has the idea, and Bob Zastrow, Capt. Frank Hauff and some more.

Michigan Due to Be Dethroned
Princeton lost 10 of 11 offensive regulars, six of 11 defenders. Gone are George Chandler, Jack Davison, Billy Kleinsasser, Finney and Donan, and Bob Unger and Harry Patterson volunteered for the military, but the Tiger retains Kazmaier and has a resourceful coach named Charlie Caldwell. This is supposed to be a Yale's year, and it is one in which Harvard couldn't possibly be any worse than it was last trip.

Pennsylvania graduated 22 lettermen, but had an unbeaten freshman team. Cornell picks up where it left off. Dartmouth is rebuilding.

Michigan is due to be dethroned in the Big Ten, with Illinois the toughie. But Ohio State, which bogged down in its closing numbers last fall, should take a lot of licking, even though Woody Hayes is switching from the single wing to the T.

Frank Leahy has a typical Notre Dame quarterback in 200-pound Johnny Mazur and 10 frosh and 36 sophomores on a squad of 84 itching to strike back.

Same Old Story at Oklahoma—Oklahoma once more loses most of its first string, but they blow 'em out of oil wells out that way. Reynolds has more help at Nebraska. Kansas could stir up trouble. Tulsa is back on the right track in the durable Missouri Valley.

Geldien steps into Eddie Talboom's shoes as Wyoming moves right along in the Skyline. Colorado College is rated number one in the Rocky Mountain.

In the Southern, North Carolina, a bust last time out, and Maryland, twice upset, are loaded to the guard rail, with Duke, Clemson and Wake Forest pressing. It's Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama and not a soft spit in the Southeastern. Miami is a stickout among the independents.

rarely goes through unbeaten, and this autumn should be no exception. Ray George, a new coach from Southern California, has the talent at Texas A. and M., but Texas and Baylor will be there or thereabouts.

August Wedding In Garden City Of Interest Here

Mrs. Robert E. Parker, of New Orleans, La., announces the marriage of her daughter, Emily, to Harry P. Tunstall, son of Harry A. Tunstall and the late Mrs. Tunstall, of Garden City, Long Island, N. Y., on Saturday, August 4.

The ceremony took place at 10:45 a. m. in the Saint Joseph's rectory in Garden City, Father McLaughlin officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Lewis Strandburg, wore an ice blue moire suit with a matching picture hat and a white orchid corsage. Miss Joan Tunstall, of Garden City, was maid of honor. She wore pink gorgandy and a pink lace picture hat. Her colonial bouquet was of spring flowers.

Edward Ward of Garden City, was best man for Mr. Tunstall.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at 223 Wellington Road, Mineola, Long Island.

Mrs. Tunstall is a graduate of Warren High School and of the New York School of Fashion. Mr. Tunstall attended Garden City High School and Villanova College in Philadelphia.

GRACE METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

The annual Grace Methodist Sunday School picnic will be held at Wildcat Park, Ludlow, this Saturday. At the picnic supper, there will be free coffee, cream and sugar for the adults, chocolate milk for the children and ice cream for everyone. Church and Sunday School members and parents are invited. Anyone who can take extra passengers or anyone who needs transportation is asked to call Ralph Dalrymple at 3363-W or Herbert Fitzgerald at 3239-R.

There will be a recreational program for all with swimming, tennis, slides and swings and horse shoe pitching from two until four p. m.; races and games at four p. m.; picnic at 6:15 p. m. and a baseball game at 7:00 p. m.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Miss Beverly Washburn, 112 Sixth avenue, who has been home for a ten day leave after finishing her basic training in the Women's Army Corps at Fort Leave, Va., left this morning for Washington, D. C., where she will be employed at the Pentagon.

Mrs. David Miller, 204 Onondaga avenue, received a cablegram on Monday from her son, Pvt. Vincent Charles Frederick, telling of his safe arrival in Tokyo.

YOUNGSVILLE

Youngville, Aug. 16—Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Deshner and son Gerry of Pleasantville; Mrs. Bertha Peterson, Endeavor; Mrs. Rose Stewart, Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Craft, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Craft and son Paul of Whig Hill; Mrs. Catherine Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Heath and daughter Joyce of Starbrick. Joyce remained for a visit with Nola Deshner.

Mrs. C. C. Johnson had as guests Wednesday the members of the Martha Workers Sunday School Class of the Youngsville E.U.B. church.

The Masonic Cooperative dinner picnic is being held on Island Park today, Thursday.

A picnic dinner was enjoyed Tuesday evening on the terrace of the H. H. Husted home. Miss Pearl and Miss Florence Lund of Warren, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Husted of Lakewood, their daughter Judy and their guest, a Chinese girl, who is now a college student in the United States, were among those present.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mathis also celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary at this time. They received many gifts, and Mrs. Mathis and her daughter sang a duet, "It Is No Secret What God Can Do". Beverly Mathis played a piano solo, "Paderewski's Minuet". Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Pang sang a song, "Love Divine".

A bountiful tureen supper was served. The date and place of next year's reunion will be announced later.

RUSSELL SOCIAL

The Auxiliary of the Russell Fire Department is sponsoring an ice cream social on Sweeney's lawn this evening from 7:00 until 10:00 p. m. It was inadvertently stated in last night's Times-Mirror that the money raised would be used for band uniforms. The affair is to benefit the auxiliary, and money will be used toward the ladies' uniforms.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. Cramer, 203 East Fifth avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Audrey Kathryn, to Raymond L. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hjalma Johnson, of Jamestown, N. Y. A fall wedding is planned.

Wise Wife 'Expects' Rather Than 'Demands' Consideration

THERE is a big difference between "demanding" and "expecting" to be treated with consideration, as any wise wife knows.

The wife who "demands" what she regards as her rights may get them, but she is also likely to get a lot of resentment from her husband along with her rights.

The wife who quietly "expects" to be treated in a certain manner not only is more likely to get that consideration, but what she gets, she gets without creating any resentment.

How does the wise wife put across the idea that she "expects" her husband to do this or that?

First of all is the way she brings up the subject. She does it in a casual, taken-for-granted manner. She assumes that, of course, he'll do it.

If an occasional reminder is necessary, she is matter-of-fact about it, not on the defensive as is the demanding wife. She doesn't line up a number of arguments or try to prove that what she wants is her right. She just reminds her husband of what she expects him to do.

LIVING EXAMPLES PROVE POINT

SHE doesn't talk the matter to death, either. When she puts a point across, she drops the subject.

Look around you at the wives who seem to get the most consideration and respect and thoughtfulness from their husbands with the least outright demands. You'll see that they practice the art of quietly expecting their husbands to act in a certain way.

Most people, including husbands, try pretty hard to do what is expected of them, so long as it is within reason.

But most people, also including husbands, feel rebellious when even a reasonable request is made to seem like a demand.

So let your husband know what you expect of him. But get your ideas across without argument or demands.

DO A GOOD DAY'S WORK

IF they do it even reasonably well, their husbands, if intelligent, couldn't possibly regard their wives as parasites. After all, a woman who cooks and keeps house and looks after children puts in more hours at her job than any so-called self-supporting working girl a man might compare her with.

And when you get right down to the history of this country, you have to admit that from the start American women have been partners.

The pioneer women were partners to their men, willingly sharing work, worry, danger, hardships and privations.

And as soon as women had their home burdens lightened and there were jobs available to them, in great numbers they went to work, both single and married women.

Naturally, as long as there are men with enough money to afford wives who do nothing but pamper themselves, there are going to be some women who are parasites.

But those aren't the women you or your husband are likely to know. You're much more likely to live in a neighborhood where some of the women work either full or part time and where the rest put in a full working-day at home.

Easter Seal Agency Makes Progress In Cerebral Palsy Aid

Harrisburg—The Cerebral Palsy Program of the Easter Seal Agency—the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.—has just completed five years of service and treatment for the cerebral palsied in this Commonwealth, according to George E. Reimer, the Society's Executive Director, in a formal report made to the Society's board of directors at a meeting held at Camp Easter Seal in Laurel Hill State Park, Somerset.

"Although this formal program has been in effect only five years, the Society has always included the cerebral palsied in its services to all types of handicapped," said Mr. Reimer, "but in 1946 a definite program was set up to fulfill the many unmet needs in the field."

The program, under the leadership of a Medical Advisory Committee appointed by the Medical Society of Pennsylvania, is designed to treat as many as possible of the more than 12,000 cerebral palsied under 21 years of age in Pennsylvania. The report shows that there are more than 700 cerebral palsied born in this Commonwealth every year and, throughout the United States some 200,000 children and over 250,000 adults are so afflicted. Over 1600 cases received care and treatment during the past year.

"Since the fall of 1946 when the program was developed and with the addition to our staff of a Cerebral Palsy Coordinator, a large part of our time and funds have been spent in the development of the program on a local and county basis," Mr. Reimer continued.

"Of the $476,252 contributed in the 1951 Easter Seal Campaign, more than half has been expended for cerebral palsy," he asserted. "We feel, as do most authorities in the field today, that a well-rounded cerebral palsy program can best be attained as part of our overall program for the handicapped and not as a separate diagnostic entity; in view of that, I believe our money-spent figures for cerebral palsied work are conservative."

Presently twenty-one of the 45 local societies affiliated with the State Society are operating treatment centers for the cerebral palsied, although all of the local societies do include the cerebral palsied in their overall program. Other societies are ready to initiate such a program just as soon as qualified personnel becomes available, the report stated.

Tribute to the alertness of four National Forge employees in helping to prevent a serious wreck on the Pennsylvania Railroad was paid yesterday in ceremonies in the Conference Room at the NFO plant.

Honored were Steve Yucha, Stanley Soback, Anthony Muniac and Steve Swenko, all of the Pittsburgh district. They received $25 U. S. Savings Bonds as a token of appreciation from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Here to make the presentation from Buffalo were John A. Gorman, supervising agent for the Northern Division, and C. R. Frew, division operator. Representing the National Forge were Personnel Director John H. Kirk and Safety Engineer Doug Kropf.

Gorman served as spokesman for the ceremonies. He recalled that the four NFO employees were en route to work about 6:30 a. m. on July 24. They noticed that an ore train just east of Pittsburgh had developed a hot box, and succeeded in waving a warning to the conductor in the caboose. The conductor was able to halt the train just as the axle gave way, causing a minor derailment.

The spokesman pointed out that it was foggy at the time, which retarded the visibility of the train crew.

"By your thoughtfulness," Gorman told the four men, "you not only did a good deed for the Pennsylvania Railroad in averting a serious wreck that would have caused thousands of dollars damage and possibly caused the death of some of the train crew, but you also did a good deed for your country."

He went on to explain that railroads, by hauling tons and tons of iron ore and other materials are a vital link in this country's defense preparations and that any tie-up in operations delays those preparations.

"So long as we have men like you who are thoughtful of the lives and property of others," the Pennsy. official said, "this nation will stand strong and never need have fear of a foreign aggressor."

Variety of Mishaps Give Emergency A Brisk Wednesday

Accidents as the result of falls, fish-hooks, and a falling tree made the Emergency Room at Warren General Hospital a busy place late yesterday.

While working on Brown Hill road for the Dominic Suppa Lumber Mill, Benjamin Haight, 323 Hickory street, was struck by a falling tree which workmen were in the process of cutting down. At Warren General Hospital, he was treated for an injured back and laceration of the scalp, and was discharged.

Henry W. Schiffhauer, 2918 Center street, Pittsburgh, while fishing in the Allegheny River near Kinzua, snagged a fish hook deep into his left hand. At the hospital, the hook was removed and Mr. Schiffhauer was given tetanus and penicillin shots before being discharged.

Robert Hamm, 1534 Pennsylvania avenue, west, is a patient in the hospital as the result of a deep 3-cornered cut which he received on his right leg in an accident at home. Mr. Hamm was cut by window glass.

Little Norman Punskey, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Punskey, 11 S. Carver street, has his right arm in a sling and cast today as the result of falling from a slide, yesterday. Norman was attending the U. C. T. picnic at Wildcat Park with his parents when he fractured his right elbow. He was discharged after treatment at the hospital.

Richard Wilson, 12 suffered a large and small laceration to his right arm when he fell, striking his arm on corrugated tile, and 12 sutures were required to close the wounds. He was discharged after treatment. Richard was visiting his sister, Mrs. Luella Check of Pittsfield, when the mishap occurred.

AIR POWER FOR PROPAGANDA—Inflated by helium, 2000 of these plastic balloons, shown being tested at Minneapolis, Minn., are the newest things to tear a hole in the iron curtain by carrying 2,000,000 messages of hope from the free peoples of the West to the inhabitants of Soviet satellite countries. Most of the balloons were expected to float over Czechoslovakia on prevailing wind currents, according to international anti-Communist sponsors of the propaganda operation who have named the project "Winds of Freedom."

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington—(AP)—The 1952 presidential election still is more than a year away. But the political experts already are beating their gums about events ahead.

But they're being pretty cagey about it—they have to—because the future is uncertain. As it stands now, the picture can be summed up briefly:

Republicans—General Eisenhower and Senator Taft of Ohio are the two most prominently mentioned for the Republican nomination. Taft is running for it as hard as he can. No one can predict at the moment what Eisenhower will do; he may want no part of it; or he may think he's more needed in uniform because of a war or because he thinks his job of rebuilding Europe's defenses isn't finished.

Democrats—President Truman has given no hint of whether he'll seek re-election. Apparently awaiting his decision, most of his fellow Democrats have remained pretty mum on any other choice of their own, if any.

They don't seem to have a wide choice. Given most mention as possible Democratic candidates if Mr. Truman doesn't run are these three: Senator Douglas of Illinois; and the supreme court's chief justice Vinson and Associate Justice Douglas.

The supreme court is not a place for developing political attractiveness and the two justices don't have much popular backing; and as for Senator Douglas—the president is reported to dislike him intensely.

The experts ridicule any suggestion that if Mr. Truman doesn't run he might, if he wanted to, be able to persuade Eisenhower to take the Democratic nomination.

Republican backers of the general claim to know he is a Republican and would run only on the Republican ticket. Only last week the president said he doesn't think the general is a candidate for the Democratic nomination although that doesn't rule out the chance he might try to persuade the general to be the candidate.

If Eisenhower ran as a Democrat a lot of Republicans backing him now as their candidate would be badly embarrassed. They couldn't very well campaign against him later.

From what he's said in the past, Eisenhower doesn't seem very close to Mr. Truman's thinking on domestic affairs. The president has urged much wider economic security for everyone. For instance, through a national medical health program.

Penelec Announces Personnel Change

Two changes in personnel affecting the Warren district have been announced by Pennsylvania Electric Company, J. P. Fenstermacher, district manager, said today.

Effective today Elbert W. Nine, now a system dispatcher at Johnstown, will assume the post of assistant system operator, supervising the Regional Dispatching department at Warren.

Karl Rotter, regional dispatcher in Warren, will move to Johnstown as assistant system dispatcher.

Mr. Nine will report to William D. Maynard, system operator at Erie, who formerly was in charge of the Warren Regional Dispatching department. With Fenstermacher since 1928, Mr. Nine has been in Johnstown since 1928, serving previously in Oakland, Maryland, and Clarion.

Penn State Awaits Transcript From Military Academy

State College, Aug. 16—(AP)—The Pennsylvania State College indicated it must first see the transcript of ousted West Point cadets before determining whether any of them would be qualified for admission to Penn State.

"It depends on whether the Academy indicates 'discredit or dishonor' on the transcript," said a spokesman who declined identity. "So far no cadets have applied for admission and we have no way of knowing what will be on their transcript."

A transcript is the official college record of the student's scholastic achievements.

The spokesman said transfer students are refused admission as a general practice among colleges and universities when "discredit or dishonor" is indicated on the transcript.

The college spokesman indicated that if the cadets submit regular transcripts their applications would be processed in the routine manner.

Meanwhile, Charles A. (Skip) Engle, Penn State football coach, told a reporter "we have been doing no recruiting of the members of the West Point football squad."

"If the college will admit them, I'd certainly like to have them, but it's entirely an administrative matter," he said.

Scouts Plan For Ceremony Oct. 6th

The commissioners staff, along with the activities committee of the Warren County Council, Boy Scouts of America, are working on plans for the fall round-up banding ceremony at Camp Olmsted, to be held Saturday, October 6.

The round-up will be open to all Cub packs, Scouts, Explorers, their parents, and to all Scouters. Co-chairmen for the round-up are C. C. Winans, commissioner, and W. L. Wehner, activities.

Current jet engines need two or three times the ordinary nickel found in reciprocating engines.

OUTCAST OF DESTINY

PAUL EVAN LEHMAN

Chapter 2

"IT WAS a test, of course; but one reason Jack picked you was because you're the only man in town who hasn't given me a tumble." She tilted back her head and regarded him from beneath long, lowered lashes. "Entertaining a man in my home is something of a novelty. I rather think I like it. You don't know how sick I am of the Palace and the bunch that hangs out there. They kid the other girls and dance with them and drink with them and I sit there night after night watching and smiling and pretending I like it."

He said, "That comes from having a brother ride herd on you."

She gave him an intent look. "Yes, I suppose so." She moved close to him. "You act as though you were scared to death of Jack. Down at the Palace you never once spoke to me. I don't believe you even looked at me."

"I looked at you plenty when you didn't know it."

"Did you really?" The green eyes were as blue as a summer sky. "You're a spring sun. She cuddled up against him and he could feel the warmth of her soft body. She said, 'If you only knew how good it feels just to be close to a nice man.'"

He seemed to be doing pretty well at winning her friendship, winning her confidence, was another thing. Lu Roselle was not a woman to give away secrets. She was vain but not shallow; he had played hard on her interest. He said, "It's nice to be sitting here with such a lovely girl," and casually slipped an arm about her.

She put her coppery head on his shoulder and closed her eyes. "You know," she said, "you're reminding me of somebody I knew. He used to work for Jack. His name was Slim Cole."

Brent's heart stopped dead. Then resumed its pumping at an increased tempo. Slim Cole was the name used by his brother when he had come to Destiny. He said lightly, "He must have been a mighty fine fellow. Old or young?"

He was young. Lu's voice was grave. "He liked me and I liked him. He used to sit at the table with me and talk. Just ordinary talk, no mush."

"Is he still around Destiny?"

"He's dead. He was run over in an alley with the back of his head shot away. When I heard about it I nearly passed out."

"Did they ever find out who killed him?"

Chapter 3

LIT HAND flashed for the gun at his hip even as he left the saddle, but the long robe covered it and he could not reach it. He heard a harsh voice call, "Hold him, boy!" and at the same time as the horse backed away. The fall had twisted the robe and he could see through the slit with only one eye, but that was enough to give him the picture. Cliff Durham had been waiting in the shadow of the barn and had seen him approach in the starlight and had roped him as he rode by. As easy as that.

His arms were pinned to his sides; he heaved himself forward in an effort to gain enough slack to permit him to lift the robe and get his gun, and he heard Cliff yell, "Back, boy! Back!" and once more the rope tightened as the horse moved deeper into the shadow of the barn. Brent kept thrusting forward because there wasn't anything else he could do and the horse kept backing away, taking up the slack as fast as he made it.

Cliff was moving along the rope at a crouching trot, his gun glinting, but the black hood was an indistinct shape against the ground and he could be sure of his target. Brent gave another heave forward and once more the rope went slack. Cliff yelled again, "Back, boy!" but this time there came a bump and the horse gave a squeal as it backed the ground as far as it could.

Cliff bent and snatched up the rope, taking up the slack himself. Brent dropped to his knees and snatched the rope himself. He got up quickly and turned back, giggling in his heels, and Cliff was pulled violently forward. He stumbled and Brent gathered in a few feet of slack before Durham regained his feet. Once more the rope leaped back and Brent was thrown viciously, grating. "Just for I'll blast you clean out of that nightgown you're wearin'!" Clutching the rope with his left hand, he put all his weight upon it and the barrel of the Colt arced through the air and steadied.

Brent let go the rope and leaped, trying to close with Cliff before he could get in a crippling shot; and as the rope went slack, Cliff fell backwards and hit the earth so hard that the gun he had cocked exploded. Brent heard the bullet cut the air over his head and then landed sprawling atop Durham.

She raised her lips and he put his arms about her and kissed her. It was a long kiss and would have been longer if he hadn't pushed her gently away. "Sorry I have to leave so soon, but there may be another time."

She smiled, the green eyes warm. "You're nice, Tex. Such a change from the Palace! To think I've actually been kissed by some man other than—my brother."

HE walked quickly to the stable and found his horse in the stall where he had left it. He led the animal through a back doorway to the open range, slipped on his rope, then mounted and rode at a walk along the back of the buildings which lined the alley. He saw no movement, heard no suspicious sound.

Knowledge that Lu Roselle had noticed the resemblance between his brother Cole and himself disturbed him, and he wondered if others had noticed it too. He decided that this was unlikely; the two brothers were entirely unlike in build and mannerisms and Lu had noticed a faint, intangible family likeness only because she had been unusually interested in both of them.

He had not learned much from Lu on this occasion, but what he had learned was illuminating. Cole had been shot in the back, then carried to the alley and left there. That meant that the one who had killed him had not wanted attention drawn to himself. Murder in Destiny was no novelty and men rarely attempted to cover up. The implication was that Cole had struck a hot trail leading to the killer of their father, had in some manner betrayed the reason for his coming to Destiny, and had immediately been eliminated. The man Brent sought was here; and the killer of Cole Hollister and he would find the murderer of his father also.

And the slightest hint that he too was on the trail would bring death just as suddenly and violently to himself.

He was nearing the faint line of road which angled to the east after leaving Destiny when it happened. Save for a soft blur of movement in the deep shadows of a barn and the swish of the rope through the air there was no warning, and Brent had no chance to avoid the noose which settled over his shoulders and tightened. There was a violent jerk and he was torn from the saddle and slammed down on the earth with a force that jarred the breath from his body.

He found the gun hand and twisted the wrist, but Durham squirmed, his arm giving with the twist and a boxer's yell with a punch. He clung to the gun. Brent struggled partly erect and drove a doubled-up knee into Cliff's groin; he heard an agonized grunt force itself from the marshal's lips. He started pounding the hand which clutched the gun against the hard ground.

Cliff struck him with his left fist. It was a hard fist and there was the power of desperation behind it. It caught Brent on the chin and felt like the kick of a mule. For a moment he stunned him and he could only cling to Durham's gun hand. He let go Cliff's wrist with his right hand and drove his own fist hard against Cliff's chin, and Cliff's head struck the ground with a thud and for a moment he was limp. Brent gripped the gun wrist again and twisted hard and this time the Colt dropped from Cliff's fingers.

Brent sprang to his feet and kicked Durham in the head and the marshal went out to stay for a while. He was heaving with exertion and his head still swam from Cliff's blow. He got into the saddle and sent the horse loping into the road, and after he had covered a mile he pulled to a halt and stripped the black robe from him. He rolled it into a bundle and tied it to his saddle.

He turned his horse away from the road and spent the next three hours confounding the trail. Assured that it would take Cliff many tedious hours of daylight to untangle the snarl, he found a grassy hollow, stalked out his horse and lay on a blanket to smoke and think.

THE whole thing had started with the death of his father. Benjamin Hollister operated a gold exchange in an Arizona mining town. He employed one clerk, a man named Harvey Stoot, a shipment of currency had been received and Hollister had locked it in the vault, planning to check it after supper.

He went to the office about eight o'clock, met Stoot there, and a witness had seen the two men enter the building, had heard the bolt shot and had seen light show through a window. When at midnight Hollister had not returned to his home, his wife, becoming alarmed, notified the marshal. The marshal went to the banking rooms and found the rear door unlocked. The lamp still burned but neither of the two men were there. The vault was open and the gold gone.

They found the two men lying in the road a few miles from town. Hollister had been shot in the back and was dead; Stoot had a bullet through the lungs and never regained consciousness. Farther on they found the wagon, but the horses were gone. Stoot kept muttering in his delirium two words which sounded like Slim and Destiny.

Brent and his elder brother Cole were working on different ranches and both quit their jobs to run down the killer. They gathered all the information available and reconstructed the crime.

Since entrance to the banking room had not been forced, they concluded that he had conspired with another to steal the currency and had unlocked the rear door before leaving for supper. His partner had concealed himself until the vault was opened, then had forced Hollister to carry the gold to a wagon he had driven into the alley. Stoot, they believed, had been shot because his partner did not trust him or did not wish to divide the loot. The murderer had then used the two horses for his getaway.

They assumed that the words Shell and Destiny were the murderer's names, probably Sheldon Destry, until Cole had learned that there was a town in New Mexico named Destiny. When he found that several outlaw bands operated out of that town he had the hunch that the killer's name was Shell and that he came from Destiny. The only way to check on this was for one of them to go to Destiny; the other lost for it and Cole won the toss. He decided to take the name of Slim Cole and promised to write Brent when he needed his help.

Then Brent got a letter which had been mailed at Juniper, sixty miles from Destiny. Cole had not found anybody named Shell but believed he was on a hot trail. He asked Brent to meet him in Juniper.

Brent had gone to Juniper, but Cole had not appeared. At the end of a week he set out for Destiny. There he had heard two men talking about the mysterious murder of Slim Cole. They were wondering about it because Slim had no enemies that they knew of and his money had not been taken. Now it was up to Brent to find the murderer.

New West German Laws Are Aimed At Neo-Nazi and the Communist Groups

By HERMANN TIMM
Bonn, Germany—A West German law outlawed the bullying storm trooper.

Wide new measures against political extremists prohibit party uniforms, advocacy of armed force and the possession of weapons without government authority.

The measures are directed at the Communist and new Nazi storm trooper squads who have made an alarming appearance recently.

The new Nazis had a force of black-boated whiteshirts called the Reichfront in bold imitation of the storm troopers who clubbed and murdered to give Hitler power.

The Communists organized their youth movement, the Free German Youth, into militant squads and gave them blue shirts. These young toughs fought pitched battles in the street with German police.

Both organizations were banned as "unconstitutional" and now the German Penal Code gives police full power to prevent their re-birth.

The new regulations cover treason, betrayal of state secrets, industrial sabotage and political slander.

Communists and extreme rights fought the measure bitterly in parliament. They called it a "police law" designed to muzzle any opposition.

The maximum punishment in the "treason law," as it was christened, is life imprisonment; there is no capital punishment in the federal republic.

High treason was defined as attempts to change the constitutional order of the republic by force and bring it under foreign domination. An attack on the president or his constitutional rights also is regarded as treason.

The violation or disfiguring of national emblems of foreign nations and insult to their diplomats in Germany were made punishable if the nation concerned asks for court action.

Also forbidden is the slander of Germans who took part in the anti-Hitler resistance movement. These people have recently been under heavy attack from rightists as traitors.

One clause forbids the spreading of false rumors against holders of public offices and organs of state.

YOUR FORESTER

L. E. Stone

A well known columnist recently wrote in a syndicated column about the absurdity of divided jurisdiction over the nation's timbered areas. He cited the case of a timbered area which is a national park on one side of the highway, and a national forest on the other. What seemed absurd to him was the fact that a mountain lion can be killed as a predator on the national forest side, but if he crosses the road onto the other side he receives sanctuary in a national park where hunting, even of predators, is prohibited.

In order to fully understand the reasons behind what might, at first glance, appear to be absurdities in administration one must become familiar with the essential difference between national parks and national forests.

National parks, which are administered by the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior, are established, individually, only by act of Congress. They are dedicated to the primary purpose of preserving for public enjoyment, superlative examples of scenery in the wild state. They also serve to regulate streamflow, and conserve wildlife. Only lands containing outstanding scenic, geologic or other natural wonders are generally included. Some national parks immediately adjoin national forests. National Parks, of which Yellowstone National Park is a fine example, are vast outdoor museums. The mountain lion, or cougar, is considered just as much a part of the wildlife picture in a national park as deer, elk, or grizzly bear. These predators help keep other wildlife, such as deer, in balance with their food supply. To eliminate the cougar, because he is a predator, would upset this natural balance and it would not be in keeping with the purpose for which the national parks were created. No hunting is permitted on national parks and from the wildlife management standpoint they can be considered as vast game refuges, which help to populate adjoining national forests and other lands with deer, elk and other game including the mountain lion.

National forests, which are established by proclamation of the President, or in some states only by acts of Congress, are administered by the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture. They are administered for the protection, development and use of timber, water, range, wildlife and other resources in the public interest. They are managed to protect watersheds, and prevent floods. National forests are also managed to preserve their attractiveness for the recreationist; to maintain a favorable habitat for wildlife, and in other ways to make their resources contribute to the welfare of the nation.

The only permit needed to hunt on the Allegheny National Forest and most of the other 51 national forests is a state game license for the state in which the forest is located. The mountain lion as a predator serves a useful purpose on the western national forests in helping to keep the deer herd in balance with the food supply, and in maintaining the caliber of the game herds by eliminating the "lame and the halt"—the ones easiest killed.

to the national forest side. It is obvious that a national park has to end somewhere. If a road happens to be the boundary in one place it would be possible to hunt the mountain lion if it crossed the road onto national forest land. The same is true of any game refuge established anywhere in the country. On one side of the boundary one can hunt. On the other side one cannot.

National forests, which are established by proclamation of the President, or in some states only by acts of Congress, are administered by the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture. They are administered for the protection, development and use of timber, water, range, wildlife and other resources in the public interest. They are managed to protect watersheds, and prevent floods. National forests are also managed to preserve their attractiveness for the recreationist; to maintain a favorable habitat for wildlife, and in other ways to make their resources contribute to the welfare of the nation.

The mountain lion as a predator serves a useful purpose on the western national forests in helping to keep the deer herd in balance with the food supply, and in maintaining the caliber of the game herds by eliminating the "lame and the halt"—the ones easiest killed.

Unfortunately this big cat also preys upon the occasional fat calf, and calves and yearlings of ranchers who graze their livestock on national forests. For this reason he has developed a bad name for himself, and can be killed as a predator at any time of the year. The big problem for the hunter is to find the mountain lion. Being a very clever animal, fond of extremely rough country and high cliffs, he manages to about hold his own against man, which to nearly all experienced woodsmen's way of thinking is a good thing. I agree with them.

STRICKEN IN CAR
Herbert A. Carlson, 49, of Baker street extension, Jamestown, N. Y., died in the Jamestown General Hospital yesterday afternoon following a freak auto accident which resulted from a heart attack. According to a police report, Mr. Carlson was driving north on Myrtle Street, Jamestown, when his car hit a water hydrant, jumped the curb and passed between a leaning ladder and the home of Gust Johnson, 101 Superior street, before it came to a stop. He was believed to have suffered the attack before the accident. Born in Sweden, Sept. 21, 1901, the son of Andrew and Matilda Ericsson Carlson, he came to the United States at the age of eight. He was employed at the Public Market as a meatcutter for John Swanson.

President Studies West Point Dispute

Washington, Aug. 16.—President Truman said today he is still making an investigation of whether there is overemphasis on football at West Point.

Mr. Truman told a news conference he is conducting the inquiry himself, but would have nothing to say until he has concluded it.

White House sources have said the inquiry covers athletic recruiting in bigtime football at the Naval Academy at Annapolis as well.

Mr. Truman disclosed the probe last week after ninety West Point Cadets had been tagged for ouster because of cheating on examinations. Those involved reportedly included many of the Army's football squad.

White House officials had said Mr. Truman had no intention of looking into the cribbing scandal.

Chinese Maj. Gen. Hsieh Fang, Joy named only one of his delegates immediately—Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodges, deputy chief of staff of the U. S. 8th army.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuchols, U. N. spokesman, said the other will be named Friday.

The subcommittee's job will be to recommend location of a military demarcation line and a buffer zone separating opposing armies for the duration of the armistice.

In formal sessions neither side moved from its original position, although Joy said the U. N. would consider modifications in the line it recommended.

The U. N. proposal calls for a buffer zone along present battle lines. The Communists have insisted on making the 38th parallel the demarcation line. Most of the battle front now runs north of this old political boundary.

A U. N. communiqué said Nam II accepted Joy's suggestion of a subcommittee "meeting around, rather than across the table." The communiqué said this would get away from one of the major impediments—formal speechmaking.

Nam II made one of these speeches in accepting Joy's proposal. It took 51 minutes.

Nuchols said most of the speech was devoted to denying Allied claims on effectiveness of its dominant naval and air power. This had been the subject of debate in the two preceding sessions.

He wound up the speech by agreeing to the subcommittee suggestion.

Joy called for a 30 minute recess. After the recess the admiral agreed to a subcommittee consisting of two delegates from each side aided by one staff assistant and one interpreter each.

proposals are very important for the world and he observed that they should be studied carefully.

Iranian undersecretary of finance, Kazem Hassibi, said the Iranians were "impressed by the very friendly and important advice from Harman."

Although the two are still far apart, observers feel the fact that talks are continuing indicates both sides want to reach a workable agreement.

Informed sources said the British offer—which Iran labelled "unacceptable"—was largely drafted by Harman himself.

administration should be passed as was agreed upon," said speaker Herbert P. Sore (R-Elk).

He referred to a pledge some time ago by senate GOP leaders that the income tax would pass the upper branch. Eleven GOP senators, however, refused to go along with their leaders and the income tax was stymied.

The house rules committee met immediately after the assembly adjourned yesterday until next week without coming up with any decision to resolve the impasse.

One-Room Schools Disappearing in County

SCANDIA SCHOOL is one of the 10 small schools remaining in Warren County. At one time this school had one of the largest rural enrollments. This year, Mrs. Alice Wall of Russell, expects 30 students.

While many Americans have never seen a one-room school, and while many a county in these 48 states does not have a one-room school, yet Warren county still has ten one-room schools which will be in operation again this autumn.

But at one time there were more. Many more! County Superintendent of Schools H. L. Blair told The Times-Mirror today that his records show 126 of these schools in operation less than 44 years ago!

And even in 1952 at least two more of the county's one-room schools will disappear with the proposed construction of a new three-room school at Enterprise. This building will eliminate two one-room schools in Southwest Township, the Hunter school where Maxwell W. Dunham of Pleasantville, is the teacher, and the Pineville school where Mrs. Dunham teaches. This new building will be constructed at Enterprise, not far from the present two-room school taught by Mrs. Verna Lindmark and Mrs. Mary Bickel, both of Titusville, and their school will also be combined into the new school. The Hunter school is expected to have 26 students this year with 17 at Pineville.

As is the case throughout the nation, good roads are making the consolidated school successful and it provides better graduation because in some of the schools right here in Warren county one teacher is required to teach eight grades.

The school at Scandia, with 30, is listed with the largest prospective attendance this year, with Mrs. Alice Wall of Russell, as teacher. The smallest attendance will be at the Cornplanter Indian Reservation where five students are expected, with Lucia E. Browne of Corydon, as teacher.

The Barnes school, which formerly had four teachers, closes this year and the students will go to school in Sheffield. Lately this school has had only three grades.

In Triumph Township an unusual condition exists in that the eight grades are split between two schools about two miles apart. Mrs. Ellen Lynch of Tidouite, teaches the first four grades at Triumph Hill school, while the four higher grades are taught at McGraw school by Mrs. Pauline Norton of Tidouite. At Triumph Hill, 17 students are enrolled for this year while at McGraw school, sometimes known as New London school, there will be 24. This separation is made in order that neither teacher be burdened with too many students.

Another small school which is located quite some distance out into the country is the Plank Road school in Watson township where 18 students are expected this year by the new teacher, Mrs. J. G. Marshall of Tidouite. The former teacher, Mrs. Eleanor McLaughlin of Tidouite, will be a member of the teaching staff at Irvine school this year.

Deerfield Township still has two one-room schools in existence. At Davy Hill school, which is taught by Mrs. Rachel Copeland of Tidouite, 25 students will enroll this year; and at Sutton Hill school, taught by Mrs. Grace Hatch of Pittsfield, 17 are expected.

The tenth one-room school in Warren county is located in Eldred township, known as Sanford school, and will be taught again this year by Mrs. Hallie Covell of Torpedo, with 24 students.

LABOR LEADERS IRKED BY ANDREWS' BLASTS

Pittsburgh, Aug. 16.—P—A group of Pittsburgh labor leaders has informed the state Democratic party they are no longer "going down the line for party candidates in the future."

A letter to State Democratic Chairman Maurice Spahn and signed by Daniel Degregory, member of a five-man labor committee which sought the removal of Rep. Hiram G. Andrews from the state policy committee, said:

"Your letter summarily rejecting the recommendation of our committee . . . fails to answer in any convincing manner the point at issue. Let us not deviate from the fact that Hiram G. Andrews, speaking as house minority leader of the Democratic party, attacked Judge Michael A. Musmanno who was overwhelmingly chosen by the rank and file of the Democratic party as the nominee for the supreme court."

RATTLESNAKE HOAX

The 51-inch rattlesnake that has stirred Old City residents was killed outside the city limits and brought downtown, police say. The rattler was nailed near the Valley View Turkey Farm and brought to the Spruce street area to a taxidermist, and when a crowd gathered around to see the reptile they spread the story that it had been killed there. A junk yard was blamed for bringing poisonous snakes into the city with oil field junk.

STUNNED BY LIGHTNING

John Elchynski of Corry was working in his garden when the storm hit that city Tuesday and he ran into his nearby poultry house to be out of the rain. After the storm passed his wife found him lying there nearly unconscious. It is theorized that a lightning bolt struck with a few feet of him and the shock brought on his collapse. As far as could be learned, he suffered no burns and there was no damage to the poultry house.

DOUBT ABOUT CAFETERIA

Franklin School Board members, meeting Tuesday, expressed concern over the high school's hot lunch program—the cafeteria operated in the YMCA through a part of last school term. It appears the success of the operation is questionable and the decision rests with the directors whether to continue. It was pointed out by Superintendent Moore that receipts were $400 and there was a loss to the school district of $326. The average attendance last term was 179 and those taking advantage of the cafeteria facilities were mostly tuition pupils.

OIL FIELD PROGRAM

Bradford field daily average crude oil production for the four weeks ending August 10 showed a decline of 275 barrels below the daily average production for the four weeks ending July 13, according to the Bradford District Pennsylvania Oil Producers Association. Production for the past four weeks from the Bradford field averaged 26,499 barrels daily; for the previous four weeks, 26,774 barrels daily. Last week Bradford field production averaged 25,324 barrels daily, as compared to a daily average production of 27,690 barrels for the previous week.

SPARTANSBURG FIRE

Fire, blamed on a lightning bolt completely destroyed a 44 by 66-foot barn on the Keith Nichols farm near Spartansburg and almost leveled a frame dwelling little more than 100 feet away at 5:30 p. m. Wednesday. Mr. Nichols this morning assessed the damage at approximately $15,000 of which only $5,500 is covered by insurance. A broken water hose on the Spartansburg Fire Department's truck prevented the firemen from doing much toward saving the two structures. Firemen theorized the radiator hose snapped when the truck passed over railroad tracks on the way to the blaze. By the time the truck arrived the motor was red hot and shortly afterwards "locked," preventing firemen from pumping water on the home which was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hicks and children. Lost in the barn blaze were 25 tons of hay, 400 bushels of oats, a hay baler, two sets of plows, a corn binder, an ensilage cutter, a bobbed, two wagon boxes, 200 feet of snow fence, two tons of fertilizer 500 pounds of cement along with some small farm tools.

ENJOY OUTING—Members of the Phalanx Fraternity and their friends were caught by the Times-Mirror photographer in the above picture at Wildcat Park last night, where the organization held an outing for three European students visiting in Warren. The special guests were Genevieve Lataste, France, and Ench Grabber, Austria, both here on the American Summer Program; and Bodeil Pedersen, of Denmark, who is visiting at the home of Leonard Andersen, Grant street. The group, arrived at the park around seven o'clock and enjoyed softball, badminton, and swimming, before gathering in the pavilion for a good old American wiener roast. Shown in the picture are: seated left to right on the left—Mr. Grabner, Miss Pedersen, Paul Mutzabaugh, Miss Lataste, David Winans, Ralph Hoffman, John Kylander, Don Erickson, and Mary Barrett; on the right—Cynthia Calderwood, Kenneth Lundahl, Carol Somers, and James Johnson.

THE MARKETS

New York, Aug. 16—Shaking off its recent bearish restraint, the stock market today swept ahead in an early rush of trading. Gains were not very large—usually held to an outside limit of a dollar a share among leaders—but they were well applied throughout the list. Steels, rails, oils and chemicals provided most of the fuel for the advance. The radio-television and motion picture sections showed little life. The copper mining division was unchanged to a little lower. The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers voted to walk out Aug. 27 on a nationwide strike of copper mining companies producing 95 per cent of all copper mined in this country. The stock market yesterday advanced for the first time in more than a week, and the participation of the rails in the recovery movement was heartening to Wall Street's bullish element. New West German Laws Are Aimed At Neo-Nazi and the Communist Groups

By HERMANN THOM
Bonn, Germany.—West Germany has outlawed the bullying storm trooper.

Wide new measures against political extremists prohibit party uniforms, advocacy of armed force and the possession of weapons without government authority. The measures are directed at the Communist and new Nazi storm arm squads who have made an alarming appearance recently.

The new Nazis had a force of black-booted whiteshirts called the Reichfront in bold imitation of the storm troopers who clubbed and murdered to give Hitler power.

The Communists organized their youth movement, the Free German Youth, into militant squads and gave them blue shirts. These young toughs fought pitched battles in the street with German police.

Both organizations were banned as "unconstitutional" and now the German Penal Code gives police full power to prevent their re-birth.

The new regulations cover treason, betrayal of state secrets, industrial sabotage and political slander.

Communists and extreme rights fought the measure bitterly in parliament. They called it a "police law" designed to muzzle any opposition.

The maximum punishment in the "treason law," as it was christened, is life imprisonment; there is no capital punishment in the federal republic.

High treason was defined as attempts to change the constitutional order of the republic by force and bring it under foreign domination. An attack on the president or his constitutional rights also is regarded as treason.

The violation or disfiguring of national emblems of foreign nations and insult to their diplomats in Germany were made punishable if the nation concerned asks for court action.

Also forbidden is the slander of Germans who took part in the anti-Nazi resistance movement. These people have recently been under heavy attack from rightists as traitors.

One clause forbids the spreading of false rumors against holders of public offices and organs of state.

A well known columnist recently wrote in a syndicated column about the absurdity of divided jurisdiction over the nation's timbered areas. He cited the case of a timbered area which is a national park on one side of the highway, and a national forest on the other. What seemed absurd to him was the fact that a mountain lion can be killed as a predator on the national forest side, but if he crosses the road onto the other side he receives sanctuary in a national park where hunting, even of predators, is prohibited.

In order to fully understand the reasons behind what might, at first glance, appear to be absurdities in administration one must become familiar with the essential difference between national parks and national forests.

National parks, which are administered by the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior, are established, individually, only by act of Congress. They are dedicated to the primary purpose of preserving for public enjoyment, superlative examples of scenery in the wild state. They also serve to regulate streamflow, and conserve wildlife. Only lands containing outstanding scenic, geologic or other natural wonders are generally included. Some national parks immediately adjoin national forests. National Parks, of which Yellowstone National Park is a fine example, are vast outdoor museums. The mountain lion, or cougar, is considered just as much a part of the wildlife picture in a national park as deer, elk, or grizzly bear. These predators help keep other wildlife, such as deer, in balance with their food supply. To eliminate the cougar, because he is a predator, would upset this natural balance and it would not be in keeping with the purpose for which the national parks were created. No hunting is permitted on national parks and from the wildlife management standpoint they can be considered as vast game refuges, which help to populate adjoining national forests and other lands with deer, elk and other game including the mountain lion.

Now let us step across the road to the national forest side. It is obvious that a national park has to end somewhere. If a road happens to be the boundary in one place it would be possible to hunt the mountain lion if it crossed the road onto national forest land. The same is true of any game refuge established anywhere in the country. On one side of the boundary one can hunt. On the other side one cannot.

National forests, which are established by proclamation of the President, or in some states only by acts of Congress, are administered by the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture. They are administered for the protection, development and use of timber, water, range, wildlife and other resources in the public interest. They are managed to protect watersheds, and prevent floods. National forests are also managed to preserve their attractiveness for the recreationist; to maintain a favorable habitat for wildlife, and in other ways to make their resources contribute to the welfare of the nation.

The only permit needed to hunt on the Allegheny National Forest and most of the other 51 national forests is a state game license for the state in which the forest is located. The mountain lion as a predator serves a useful purpose on the western national forests in helping to keep the deer herd in balance with the food supply, and in maintaining the caliber of the game herds by eliminating the "lame and the halt"—the ones easiest killed.

Unfortunately this big cat also preys upon the occasional fat colt, and calves and yearlings of ranchers who graze their livestock on national forests. For this reason he has developed a bad name for himself, and can be killed as a predator at any time of the year. The big problem for the hunter is to find the mountain lion. Being a very clever animal, fond of extremely rough country and high cliffs, he manages to about hold his own against man, which to nearly all experienced woodsmen's way of thinking is a good thing. I agree with them.

STRICKEN IN CAR
Herbert A. Carlson, 49, of Baker street extension, Jamestown, N. Y., died in the Jamestown General Hospital yesterday afternoon following a freak auto accident which resulted from a heart attack. According to a police report, Mr. Carlson was driving north on Myrtle Street, Jamestown, when his car hit a water hydrant, jumped the curb and passed between a leaning ladder and the home of Gust Johnson, 101 Superior street, before it came to a stop. He was believed to have suffered the attack before the accident. Born in Sweden, Sept. 21, 1901, the son of Andrew and Malinda Ericsson Carlson, he came to the United States at the age of eight. He was employed at the Public Market as a meatcutter for John Swanson.

Annual Youth Night At Chautauqua Is Interesting Affair

Melodrama, canoes, be-bop, traditional music, and religious drama all shared the Amphitheatre spotlight Monday night as Chautauqua's younger groups romped through their annual Youth Night.

The affair was traditional in spirit only, for the youths revamped the program from the title "Young First Night" on down the archery targets, badminton, rackets, and globe which appeared in the varied productions.

Edward Murphy, four soloists, and the Student Symphony Orchestra presented the overture at five and the main show stormed the Amphitheatre platform at eight.

The Boys' and Girls' Clubs had the stage outfitted with three canoes, two archery targets, a bugler, and a volume of vitality for their act "Glimpses of the Club."

The Clubbers traced the beginnings of several sports by playing these sports with the flavor of their original countries. In the realm of dancing they depicted a mountain dance from Norway and a folk dance from England.

A stark tale of tragedy followed as the High School Club staged the melodrama "Wild Nell, Pet of the Planes, or The Final Sacrifice." Pantomimed before a large screen, with a narrator to present dialogue, this event covered area from Handsome Harry to Sitting Bull.

Whisking the atmosphere back to the present, the "Colleagues," the College Club's newly-formed orchestra, jumped into a session of be-bop.

Students of the School of Music here then appeared to provide contrast. Violinist Carol Wagner, accompanied by Rachel Kaefod, performed the Second Movement from the Caesar Frank Sonata for Violin and Piano.

Ruth Daniel, soprano, presented "Let My Song Fill Your Heart."

"My Hero" from "The Chocolate Soldier," and the Negro spiritual "Steal Away." Robert Woodside accompanied her on the piano.

The Junior Church School and the Globe Club were the last organizations to appear upon the platform. After the group sang "The House Upon the Rock" and "I Have the Joy Down in My Heart," the Globe Club staged the short drama "Building An Altar."

Kenneth Saxton narrated the drama while objects were presented for the altar. Tommy Saxton offered a Bible; John Birmingham, a globe; and Joan Kilby, a cross.

The evening's festivities ended with the audience singing "Faith of Our Fathers," accompanied at the organ by Dr. George William Volkel.

A NEW idea for breakfast. Serve it Continental style with giant cultivated berries from New Jersey and Michigan, Switzerland Swiss cheese and thinly sliced dark brown bread. Sound different? Try it and you'll find that it tastes just as good.

Blueberry Sauce (6 servings)

One pint large cultivated blueberries, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water. Wash and drain blueberries. Place in sauce pan with sugar and water. Bring to a full boil, shaking pan occasionally to prevent sticking. Reduce temperature and simmer 10 minutes. Strain. Return juice to high heat and cook until thick and syrupy, stirring well, about 6 minutes. Pour over cooked berries. Cool. Makes about $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups sauce.

Sour cherries are plentiful this season. The New York State Extension service prepared this recipe.

Sour Cherry Pie.

Three cups fresh, pitted sour cherries, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, $1\frac{1}{6}$ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter, and pastry for one 9-inch pie. You can substitute 2 tablespoons flour or $2\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoons of quick-cooking tapioca for the cornstarch. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Sprinkle mixture over cherries and stir gently until they are well coated.

Put cherries into the pie crust and dot with butter. Cover with a top crust in which you have made slits for the steam to escape. Bake pie at 450 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Then lower the temperature to 350 degrees F. and bake for 20 minutes. This recipe yields 1 pie (9-inch).

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: "Dutch Treat" breakfast—thin slices of dark bread, slices of Swiss cheese and sauce of giant cultivated blueberries, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Chicken bouillon (made with cubes), crackers, stuffed eggs, lettuce, sliced tomatoes and radishes, orange cup cakes, tea, milk.

DINNER: Pan-broiled salmon steaks, tartar sauce, boiled new potatoes with minced parsley and buttered peas, crisp rolls, butter or fortified margarine, sour cherry pie, cheese, coffee, milk.

LIGHT summer desserts that carry nutrition without extra calories solve hot weather menu problems. The use of non-fat dry milk is the secret. It carries a pack of protein, calcium, riboflavin and lactose, cuts food costs (a one-pound package that makes 5 quarts liquid non-fat milk costs between 39 to 43 cents) and is low in calories.

These two desserts are easy to make in the cool of the morning and can be kept in the refrigerator until dinner. Incidentally, the non-fat milk will keep almost indefinitely on a cool dry shelf if opened and closed carefully.

Pineapple Fluff (Makes 6 servings)

One-half cup water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup non-fat dry milk, 1 tablespoon (1 envelope) plain unflavored gelatin, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup cold water, 1 can (No. 2) crushed pineapple.

Pour water and lemon juice into deep 1-quart bowl. Sprinkle non-fat dry milk over surface. Beat with rotary or electric beater until stiff, about 7 to 10 minutes. Soften gelatin in cold water about 5 minutes. Meanwhile drain pineapple, reserving liquid. Heat liquid to scalding. Add to softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Stir in pineapple. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold whipped non-fat dry milk into pineapple-gelatin mixture. Divide into six individual serving dishes and chill until firm. For a party or for a special treat or the family try chocolate trifle made with non-fat dry milk.

Chocolate Trifle (Makes 6 servings)

One tablespoon (1 envelope) plain unflavored gelatin, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water, 2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup hot water, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, slightly beaten, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, $1\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoons vanilla extract, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup non-fat dry milk, 6 lady fingers.

Soften gelatin in cold water about 5 minutes. Meanwhile, melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sugar, hot water, softened gelatin and butter. Stir until dissolved. Remove from heat. Gradually pour over egg, stirring constantly. Cool.

Four water, lemon juice and vanilla into deep 1-quart bowl. Sprinkle non-fat dry milk over top of water. Beat with rotary or electric beater until stiff, about 7 to 10 minutes. Fold whipped non-fat dry milk into cooled chocolate mixture.

Slice each lady finger in half lengthwise, then cut in half crosswise. Arrange 4 pieces in a sherbet glass as petals of a flower. Pour chocolate mixture into each glass. Chill until firm.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Grapes, ready-to-eat cereal, soft-cooked eggs, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Tomatoes stuffed with creamy cottage cheese and chopped peanuts, buttered toasted English muffins, stewed plums, gingerbread, tea, milk.

DINNER: Cold sliced ham, potato and cucumber salad, corn on cob, rye bread, butter or fortified margarine, radishes and scallions, pineapple fluff, iced coffee, milk.

Sixth Anniversary Passes Unnoticed By People in Tokyo

Tokyo—(AP)—The sixth anniversary of Japan's surrender passed almost unnoticed by both occupation personnel and the Japanese. There were no ceremonies, no speeches, no flags in the streets. Shops and offices did business as usual. It appeared that most Americans, anyway, were not even aware that the bloody Pacific war came to a halt just six years ago today.

Runaway Redskins Take St. Louis For 13th Win in a Row

By The Associated Press

Nothing and nobody is halting the Cleveland Indians' mad dash to the pennant these days.

Yesterday seemed the ideal day for it. It looked like the right time to stop the runaway Redskins. All signs were pointing to it.

The Indians were gunning for their 13th straight victory. Opposing them were the pesky St. Louis Browns who knocked them out of the 1950 flag race about a year ago this time with four straight licks. On the hill was Ned Garver, who already had whipped them twice within a setback this season. And by Manager Al Lopez' own admission, the Indians were "tired and worried."

But the fighting first placers overcame all these obstacles—in a mighty seven-run first inning—to batter Garver like he was a second rater, blast the Browns, 9-4, win their 13th straight, and protect their two and a half game margin over the New York Yankees.

Al Rosen's fourth grand slammer of the season, which equalled a Major League mark, featured the first inning attack on Garver. It was Rosen's 21st homer.

The runner-up Yankees took an 8-5 decision in Washington; Boston's third place Red Sox remained five and a half games out by beating the Athletics, 4-2, in Philadelphia, and Chicago's fourth place White Sox shut out the Tigers in Detroit, 2-0.

New York's second place Giants took their second straight from Brooklyn, 3-1, to lead the National League writers' margin to 10½ games. Boston's Braves handed the Philadelphia Phillies their fifth straight loss with a 9-0 victory. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh also scored shutout wins, the Pirates blanking the St. Louis Cards, 7-0, and the Reds shading the Chicago Cubs, 1-0.

Sons of Italy Come From Behind To Nip Youngsville Suppas 6-5

Sons of Italy defeated the Suppas Studebakers of Youngsville, 6-5 in a Sunset Baseball League scrap at the State Hospital field last night.

The veteran Diz Hines pitched three-hit ball and struck out six men to register his fourth straight win over Suppas.

Bennett was on the mound for Youngsville. He struck out four men, walked five and was nicked for seven hits.

Youngsville jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the second frame when Schmader dropped Sharp's fly ball. Sharp then stole second and third and scored when Johnson booted Frank's ground ball. Suppas made it 4-0 in the fourth on successive singles by Juliano, Sharp and walks to Gnage and Welsh and an error by McGuire.

Sons of Italy then came to life in the bottom of the fourth inning and went on to win. They scored two markers in that frame when Campman and Weidert walked, Welsh missed McGuire's roller, with Campman scoring. Smith fled out, but Weidert scored when Juliano threw wild to first in an attempt to pick off McGuire.

Four big runs for the Sons of Italy were chalked up in the fifth stanza. Tome and Johnson walked and both scored on Castagnino's triple to right. Castagnino, however, was tagged out, attempting to stretch the hit into a home run. Campman then walked. Weidert singled to send Campman to third. McGuire singled to drive in one run and Smith singled to plate Weidert with what proved to be the winning run.

In the sixth for Suppas, Ananea was safe on Smith's error. Bennett grounded out to first. Welsh fanned for the second out. Johnson then booted Haight's roller to let Ananea score. Trask fled out to Weidert in deep center to end the threat.

Joe Louis Is Unable To KO Jim Bivins

Baltimore, Aug. 16—(P)—Never fight light again vows Joe Louis today.

Whether it be Rocky Marciano or Ezzard Charles next on his hit parade, the Brown Bomber will come in as close as he can get to 208 pounds.

He blamed last night's weight of 203½, lowest for him in 10 years, for a disappointing although unanimous 10-round victory over Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland.

"I didn't improve none tonight," he said disgustedly.

He was downhearted mostly at his failure to deck Bivins in the last round when he hit the 180-pounder with everything he had. Bivins was still hanging on to him at the end and Louis' deadpan for once showed disbelief—or perhaps realization the deadline has gone with his 37 years.

The last minute flurry was the most savage of the fight which otherwise followed a dull pattern. Louis jabbed and jabbed and Bivins ran and ran.

First Playoff Tilt Scheduled Tonight At Memorial Field

First game in a best-out-of-three series for the 1951 Hot Stove Intermediate League championship will be played tonight.

The scrap will pair the Eastern Division winners, Western Auto, against the Western Division winners, Waxman Furniture.

The game will be played on War Memorial field, starting at 6 p. m.

Second game in the play-off series is slated for Saturday night at 6 o'clock at Jackson field. A third game, if needed, will be scheduled for next Tuesday.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC

By The Associated Press

Niagara Falls moved to within three percentage points of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League-leading Erie Sailors last night by beating Lockport 7-3 while the Sailors were losing to New Castle 6-3.

The Falls crew rapped two Lockport pitchers for 12 hits and kept the winning margin after a two run second inning gave them a 3-2 lead.

New Castle staged a ninth inning rally to clip the Sailors after trailing throughout the game. Erie opened the scoring in the first inning with one run. New Castle pushed its first run over the third, then scored again in the fifth and seventh.

He had eight strikeouts and walked three. Will's Cleaners had 10 hits, including doubles by Cummings, Mancuso and LeTrent. Spouts were credited with four safeties, including a double by Massa.

Gridiron Briefs

Coach Fred A. Bauer has asked all candidates for the Sugar Grove-Farmington High School football team to report to the school Saturday morning, August 18, at 10 a. m.

Initial call for candidates for the Franklin high school grid squad drew a turnout of 37 players, in contrast to the nearly 140 who have signed up at Warren High. The Franklin squad will be augmented by five others who were out of town on vacation when the sign-up call was issued.

Coach Lou Hanna at Corry is busy getting his squad through physical examinations and issuing of equipment.

Titusville High School, which had one of the district's most powerful grid squads last year, has seven returning lettermen around which to build this year's team.

Three of the seven were regulars. They are Don Bird in the backfield, Ed Myer at center and Carl Garraon at tackle. Other monogram winners were Joe Bodamer, halfback, and Linemen Ron McIntyre, Phil Goodman and Glen Elder.

The squad and coach, Red Lytle, a Warren product, will leave Saturday for Camp Coffman to open 1951 training.

Coach Duke Burkholder has asked all candidates for the 1951 DuBois grid team to report Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock for their initial drill.

Plans Progressing for Two Community Fairs in the County

New Attendance Records Are Anticipated at Youngsville And Sugar Grove Next Month

WHAT IS A FAIR?

A place where you can show your skill
In baking bread, cake or pies;
Or perhaps it is in needlework
Where you can win a prize.
The canning, vegetables and art,
The livestock or the pets
All go to make a Community Fair
One we will never forget.

—Nina Haight.

Attendance records are expected to be broken next month at both the Youngsville and Sugar Grove Community Fairs, plans for which were announced this morning by the respective committees.

The Youngsville Fair will be held at Island Park, Wednesday through Saturday, September 5, 6, 7 and 8, while the Sugar Grove Fair will be held Thursday through Saturday, September 13, 14 and 15, at Sugar Grove.

Burgess Warren J. Kay of Youngsville, is president of the Youngsville Fair Association, and the other officers are: Stanley Lawrence, vice president; Rose Aberg, secretary; and Margaret Brazee, treasurer.

The Youngsville directors are: Mr. Kay, Mr. Lawrence, Mrs. F. G. Beckenbach, Gilbert Sanford, F. G. Beckenbach, Mrs. Harold Culver, Miss Brazee, Paul R. Getts, Mrs. R. L. Mead, Walter Dale, Henry Danielson, R. L. Albright, Donald Warner and Ray Fales.

Mr. Kay heads the entertainment committee with Ray Fales and Donald Warner. The advertising committee is composed of Mrs. F. G. Beckenbach, Henry Danielson, R. L. Albright and Stanley

Lawrence. The publicity committee is composed of Mrs. R. L. Mead, Mrs. F. G. Beckenbach, and Mrs. Harold Culver.

Wednesday will be given over to the placing of the exhibits and on Thursday there will be a judging of exhibits, judging of draft horses, and the horse pulling contest. Friday's events are highlighted by the poultry judging contest, Wild West Rodeo Show, and a round and square dance in the Roller Rink. The Rodeo will continue through Saturday afternoon and evening, and the exhibits will be open to the public each day.

Sugar Grove Officers
J. A. McIntosh is president of the Sugar Grove Community Fair Association, William Lester is vice president, Mrs. James Lacey is secretary, and F. A. Schoonover is treasurer.

The directors of the Sugar Grove Association are: Arnel Carter, Earl Lawrence, Mrs. Alvin Ayling, Mrs. Alfred Atkins, J. A. McIntosh, William Lester, J. Albert Johnson, Myron Ludwick, Harry Bergstrom, F. A. Schoonover, James Lacey, Roy August, Don Gruber, Lloyd Price, Mrs. Scott Stuart, Sr., Mrs. Alan Frank, R. C. Farver, Ed Hanson and Travers Stohberg.

R. C. Farver has been selected as business manager and is assisted by a finance committee composed of Scott Stuart, Sr., J. Albert Johnson, Frank Conklin, Frank LaVigne and Delmar Nicholson. David Wright and Roy August head the horse committee which is being completed today, and the entertainment committee is made up of Travers Stohberg, William Norbeck and Everett Landin.

Thursday's events include the Warren County Holstein Show, Baby Clinic, Firemen's Water Battle and Magic Show. The Eastman Shows will be set up all during the fair. On Friday, there will be the Warren County Vocational Judging Contest, Horse-Pulling Contest, Amateur Show in the evening, and the big firemen's parade which is being sponsored this year by the Fair Association, the American Legion and the Sugar Grove Firemen. The Livestock and Horse Shows will take place on Saturday and in the evening there will be a big dance, round and square, sponsored by the Sugar Grove Firemen.

Corydon Church Is Planning Outing On August 23rd

Corydon, Aug. 13.—The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church met with Mrs. Lewis Remington. Following a special party conducted by Martina Campbell, Mrs. Bennett Putnam, president of the group, called the regular meeting to order. Rev. DeForest Tannies, offered a scripture reading after which the group repeated the Lord's Prayer.

A decision was made to hold the annual church supper and outing on the evening of August 23, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Remington. Mrs. Ruth Tonne Funk was named chairman of a food committee. Those attending the meeting were Rev. and Mrs. Tannies, Kinzua; Mrs. A. C. Dystart, Mrs. Bennett Putnam, South Valley; Mrs. Ruth Funk, Chester; Mrs. J. K. Crooks, Mrs. Ruth Crooks, Mrs. Mae Marsh, Miss Teresa Marsh, Mrs. Fred Neely, Mrs. John Reid, Nell J. Caldwell and the hostess, Mrs. Remington.

Members of the Corydon Board of Education met at the home of the secretary, Mrs. Cynthia Prue. New and unfinished business was transacted. The Corydon township supervisors met for the August session conducting routine business matters.

Mrs. Jessie Bennett was hostess to the Corydon Afternoon card club. Awards were made to the following after playing 500: Mrs. Maude Adams, high; Mrs. Lida Wilcox, second; and traveling token, Mrs. Jean Wilcox, consolation. Candy was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fair and family have returned to Pittsburgh after spending two weeks with Mrs. Olive Fair.

Porter Browne, accompanied by Fred Meyers, of Frewsburg and Carl Swanson, Corydon, returned recently from Cleveland where they witnessed two games between the St. Louis Browns and Cleveland Indians. Mr. Browne enjoyed a visit with Mike Garcia, Cleveland pitcher from his hometown, Vinalia, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Nagy and Miss Cassie Davis, Pittsburgh, were guests of the Fred Davis family en route from a vacation in Canada.

Miss Carolyn Kraft has returned from a visit in Buffalo and Chautauqua Lake.

Sgt. Charles Crooks left Sunday for Florida, following a leave of absence here with family and friends.

An auditor's meeting was held recently at the home of Mrs.

Gladys Smith. Routine business was conducted.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Henderson, Pittsburgh, are arriving this week for a stay at their Corydon home. Mr. Henderson is convalescing from a recent illness.

Mrs. Mamie Scott and family, Randolph, N. Y., are spending week-ends at their trailer here.

Mrs. Margaret Coates, teacher in the Steamburg schools, has completed a two weeks' course of training at Fredonia State Teachers' college.

The Youth Fellowship group held its meeting, Sunday evening, in the Methodist church with a prayer and song service.

Rev. and Mrs. DeForest Tannies plan a trip soon to Newport News,

Va., where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bennink and family.

Mrs. A. C. Marcinek has returned from a visit with Mr. Marcinek in Berea, Ohio.

Mrs. Adda Whaley Klop, of Santa Monica, Cal., has arrived here to spend two months with local and area relatives.

Mrs. Edith Murphy and mother, Mrs. Mary Laughlin, and Mrs. John Guinane, of Jamestown, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilcox.

Miss Joan Taylor, of Sharon, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Orson Coates and son.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Keller, Kinzua, spent Sunday with local relatives.

Miss Wilma Stryker has returned to Warren after spending the weekend with her mother, Mrs. L. R. Stryker.

Miss Thelma Crooks, Warren, and Miss Geraldine Crooks, Bradford, were Sunday guests of local friends.

F. D. Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Peterson and son, Bradford, attended the Rodgers reunion held at the Fred Rodgers home, Sunday.

Mrs. Ralph Auchenbach has returned to Astoria, N. Y., after visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson and other relatives.

The word "diamond" originally was derived from the Greek "adamas," meaning adamant.

American and British Force Escapes After Being Trapped Behind Red Lines

By JOHN RANDOLPH

On the Western Front, Korea, Aug. 8—(Delayed)—(P)—A major American and British commonwealth force escaped today after being trapped by high water for five days behind enemy lines.

In the past most of the Allies' trouble has come from Communists. This time the enemy was the weather—torrential rains and raging floods.

The operation began the night of Aug. 3, when the American force began moving over the Imjin river bridge.

Since last November, when the Allies retreated from North Korea, this region across the Imjin has been little more than a wide woman's land. Twice the Chinese used it as an assembly area for offensives New Year's and last April.

Recently there were reports of another huge Red buildup. The Allied command wanted to know what was going on across the Imjin.

The task force was sent to find out. It was big enough to fight its way in and big enough to fight its way out if necessary. To the south there was a British commonwealth force of the King's Own Shropshire light infantry, Royal Australian rifles, the Royal Ulster rifles and the attached Belgian battalion.

This group had crossed the Imjin from the south to block the roads and shield the Americans from any attack from the south-west. Shortly after 4 a. m. on Aug. 4, the force jumped off toward Red hill positions in the west, supported by field artillery and tanks. Resistance was light at first, and the infantry advanced 3,000 to 4,000 yards before the enemy stiffened at noon and began to lay down heavy artillery fire.

The advance slowed, and dug in for the night.

The men had just finished evening chow when it began to rain hard. And before 8 p. m. the troops were caught in one of the worst cloudbursts they could ever have experienced.

The water was washing old rafts, trees, houses, wooden foot bridges, Korea barges, masses of foliage downstream to batter the bridges that still linked the task force with the main U. N. lines.

One by one the bridges began to go. The first broken were the light spans made from plywood pontoons. Then the bigger bridges, the semi-permanent one built on poles, with steel girders and heavy beams washed out.

The last to go were the rubber pontoon and steel treadway bridges.

By dawn, all but one of these were gone—the last one holding across the Imjin west of Yonchon.

The commonwealth forces already were cut off to the south—save for the American's bridge, and at its location the Imjin was at an all-time flood stage of 28 feet.

The approaches had been inundated long ago and the bridge was impassable when the engineers decided, about 4:30 a. m. of Aug. 5 to cut it loose from the western shore. They hoped it would swing to the other bank and hold there until it could be rebuilt when the water went down.

But at 4:58, just as they were about to cut the west cables, the river did it for them. There was a splintering crash, the steel cables snapped and the hundred - yard long bridge swung away and then held against the east bank.

On Aug. 6 the Imjin started subsiding. Yesterday, while the water still was running fast and high, the engineers got their bridge back in operation west of Yonchon. An hour later, the convoys of troops and equipment were rolling eastward and home.

In the time of Napoleon, one workman could make all the supplies for two soldiers.

The population of Iceland is 140,000.

Recruiting

U. S. Army U. S. Air Force

This column is written by Sgt. Jim Horony of your local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station located on the 2nd floor, Post Office Building, with the cooperation of the Warren Times - Mirror, your local newspaper.

The purpose of this column is to inform the people of the Warren area of the needs of the service in conjunction with the benefits of the service which includes. Women of the Air Force and Women of the Army. The column will be run one day a week, on Wednesday and each edition will cover a different branch of the Army and Air Force.

I would appreciate any comment the people of the Warren area have on this column so that I may better the column as we go on. Just drop a card to the Army and Air Force Recruiting Station, Post Office Building, Warren, Pa. or to The Times-Mirror, c/o Service Column, and I will try to answer your question in the next edition.

tion, or come into the Recruiting Station and I will answer your question personally.

TODAY IT'S YOUR FIELD ARTILLERY

The Field Artillery is one of the most fascinating and instructive branches of the Army. It offers you almost any type of work and training and experience in many modern technical subjects which will prepare you for a fine future, if you decide to leave the Army after your enlistment has been completed. Or, if you wish to reenlist you may do so and fill your own vacancy and go on with your work or study whichever it may be.

Modern fire power is both complicated and highly technical. You may be trained as a meteorologist, a precision instrument man, an automotive technician or a communications specialist, in fire control work, mathematics, the use of charts, transits, and dozens of other scientific instruments are part of your training. Radio, Radar, Telephone, Radiosonde and all types of up to the minute devices are in constant use in the Field Artillery.

That's why American gunners are the admitted best by all Armies to be the finest in the WORLD.

Hal Boyle's Comment

By HAL BOYLE

Hibbing, Minn.—(P)—What is the world's most valuable metal? A merchant might say, "gold!" that word has never lost its lure.

A scientist, thinking of new experiments in the atom bomb, might say, "uranium." But in terms of everyday living the most valuable metal is still that old servant—iron. You have to eat iron to live. And iron is the muscle of steel, the framework of all great modern civilizations in war and in peace.

A nation without iron today is a nation without muscle. Americans use more iron than any other people. Yet they know as much about it as the average Chinaman does about the cause of athlete's foot.

Here are a few facts and figures about iron you can paste up for a quiz test:

Some 26 per cent of all the iron produced in the United States comes from the Mesabi range here. It is in a great pocket of glacial drift about a hundred miles long and up to seven miles wide. So nature concentrates her bounties.

Mesabi, also spelled Mesaba and Missabi, comes from a Chippewa Indian term meaning giants, who—legend says—once inhabited the region. The word "range" means "district" so the Mesabi range is "the district of the giants." But iron is the only giant left. It is a giant that has poured its strength into plowshares and skyscrapers, put sinews in swords and tanks. Without the Mesabi range America could hardly have fought and won two great world wars so handsily. Or arm itself so well for a third one.

Iron used to be clawed by picks in underground tunnels. Some still is. But now huge shovels that do the work of scores of men strip off the covering soil surface, then scoop up five cubic feet of heavy ore as if it were so much ice cream. The shovels work down almost to the five-hundred foot level, creating great valleys of rust.

One mining company in the Hull-Rust-Mahoning pit, the world's largest, has 55 miles of railroad track within this single vast hole. Ore also is trundled to the surface in 22-ton trucks and by a conveyor belt forty stories tall.

An odd sidelight: Most visitors think the redder the earth the richer the ore content. "Taint so... the richest ore is blue-black, and crumbly. Red rock, bearing low grade ore, is called 'paint rock' by the miners. A cleaning-up operation, in which ore pockets are washed out by hydraulic pressure, is called 'a scam job'."

Iron ore is sorted into 22 grades, before it is trundled to Duluth in mile-long trains of 180 cars. Each modern car now can carry 70 tons. Nobody has ever been known to steal a loaded ore car. "He wouldn't find it easy to peddle," a rail official said. "That's one of the nice things about the business."

The ore goes from the Duluth-Superior docks to the nation's smelters via the Great Lakes. The big Columbia carried only 132 tons in the first shipment in 1885. Big new modern vessels now carry 16,000 to 20,000 tons. And they can be loaded in four to six hours.

What about the future, when the high-grade ore is exhausted? One answer is taconite, or low-grade ore. There are millions of tons of it. One company is spending more than $23,000,000 in research on ways to utilize it commercially. A pilot plant now is powdering taconite rock, separating the iron particles magnetically and moulding them into "iron eggs" richer than the best natural ore deposits. The process is called "beneficiation" and shows even the iron industry has its brand of gobbledygook. Another answer to America's coming iron shortage lies in the discovery of new ranges. They no longer look for them through hit-or-miss test drillings. They explore for iron by airplane now. The plane carries a gadget called a magnetometer. When its needle begins to jitterbug, that means "metal below." And the more of this precious metal is found, the more secure is America's industrial might. But so far they can't mine it from raisins, unfortunately. Had your iron today?

Beekeepers Plan Field Day Saturday

The 48 annual Beekeepers' Field Day and Picnic sponsored by the Pennsylvania State Beekeepers' Association will be held this Saturday, August 18, at Cook Forest State Park, Cooksburg.

The program will begin at 9:30 a. m. and last until 12:00. Speakers will be H. B. Kirk, senior entomologist, Harrisburg; Prof. E. J. Anderson, in charge of bee culture research, State College; and W. W. Clark, Jr., extension apiarist, State College.

Beekeepers will bring basket lunches to be eaten at noon. Lemonade and coffee will be served by Crawford and Venango County Beekeepers' Associations. Ice cream will be available at cost. If you do not wish to bring your lunch, meals are available at the Cook Forest Inn.

Games and contests will be held between 1:30 and 2:30. Promptly at 2:30 Russell M. Smith, Forest County Agent, will direct a tour through the Park beginning with a hiking trip and concluding with an auto tour to Seneca Point area. Families and friends are invited.

Chautauqua Holds Annual Celebration Of Old First Night

Chautauqua—Historic Chautauqua Institution Tuesday night celebrated its 78th birthday, traditionally called Old First Night. Treasurer Gerald A. Lynch, emceed the three-hour Amphitheater program of skits, songs and speeches with the announcement that $46,181 had been contributed to the institution by friends and constituents to meet operational costs and provide for assemblies of the future.

It topped by $5,000 last year's Old First Night gift of $41,000. The largest individual gift, $5,280, was made by a resident of Jamestown, Mrs. Ralph W. Taylor.

Program director Ralph McElister, read congratulatory telegrams from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Senator Herbert H. Lehman and Irving M. Ives of New York, ex-Governor Charles Edison of New Jersey, Congressman Daniel M. Reed of New York's Eighth Congressional District and Mayor Samuel Stroth.

Greetings were also extended from the China Institute in America by Dr. Hu Shih, former Chinese ambassador to this country and now a professor at Princeton University.

Chautauqua president Samuel M. Hazlett recalled its two founders, Lewis Miller, an Akron manufacturer, and John Heyl Vincent, a Methodist bishop, who started Chautauqua as a two-week Sunday school settlement.

Dr. Alfred E. Randall, director of Chautauqua's department of religion, opened the celebration by leading the same vespers service held at the first assembly.

Seven who were present in 1874 were on the platform. Among them were Mrs. Wilson Heath and Royal S. Blodgett of Jamestown.

The rare metal palladium requires the working of many tons of ore to obtain an ounce of it.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backaches—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the millions of kidneys and all their flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Sizeable List of Price Reductions For Fresh Vegetables Noted by Reviewer

By The Associated Press
Retail pork prices rose sharply again this week in most stores. And eggs continued their seasonal climb, advancing as much as six cents a dozen in places.
Only consolation for the budget-harried food shopper was a sizeable list of reductions in fresh vegetables. Tomatoes, cucumbers, lima beans and cauliflower showed the biggest drops in many markets. Cabbage, beets, eggplant, onions, peppers, potatoes, squash, radishes, scallions, kale, escarole, and chicken were plentiful and relatively low-priced generally, and peaches, honeydews, watermelons, lemons, and grapefruit were down slightly from last week-end.

The pork increases ranged to as much as 10 cents a pound on popular items. Food retailers said these new increases reflected more gains at the wholesale level following the granting of higher ceilings by the office of price stabilization recently to relieve a "cost squeeze." Including the initial rises last week, the retail pork ad-

Warren-Born Man Is New President of Hamilton Watch Co.

Clarence C. Smith of Lancaster, Pa., who was born in Warren, has just been elected president of the Hamilton Watch Company, in Lancaster, to succeed Rudolph M. Kant, who died last week.
Mr. Smith is a nephew of Miss Fannie M. Smith, former superintendent of the Warren General Hospital, who is now a guest at the Watson Memorial Home.
Mr. Smith joined the Hamilton firm as comptroller in 1930, was elected secretary and comptroller in 1932, and vice president and secretary in 1939. The company granted him a leave of absence in 1942 and 1943 and he served as Major in the United States Army Air Corps. In 1918 he enlisted in the Army and served as a Lieutenant until 1917.
Mr. Smith is the son of the late Charles and Flora (Crocker) Smith, and a grandson of the late Christian Smith.

Small Businessmen Attending Clinic On In Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh — More than 4,000 small businessmen from Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia are expected to attend the Armed Forces Small Business Clinic which opened in Hotel William Penn Wednesday and extends through Friday.

Approximately 50 exhibitors, representing holders of prime government contracts and the armed forces, will display items they wish to subcontract to small businessmen.

The purpose of the clinic, according to the co-directors, is to broaden the subcontracting base of the prime contractors in order to speed up defense deliveries and to make it possible for the small businessman to get more government orders.

The co-directors of the clinic are Navy Lt. Robert H. Seese and Lee M. Menecio, industrial specialist for the Munitions Board and administrative assistant to the Supervising Inspector of Naval Material.

Joint sponsors are the Armed Forces Regional Sub-Council, representing all of the armed forces, and the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh.

The clinic will be open each day from 10 a. m. until 6 p. m. Wednesday through Friday, and will be held in the hotel's Pittsburgh Room.

In addition to the industrial exhibitors, the armed forces, the National Production Authority and the Controlled Materials Plan will have representatives on hand to answer questions prospective subcontractors may wish to submit. It will be an opportunity for smaller businessmen to learn how to improve their opportunities for obtaining defense business.

REVERSES DECISION

In a surprise reversal of an earlier announcement, Mayor Samuel A. Stroth of Jamestown has disclosed that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself as mayor of Jamestown in the November balloting. Mayor Stroth stated that he has "definitely and irrevocably decided not to run for mayor." At the same time he indicated his health and the heavy demands of the mayor's office on his time prompted him to make the decision. He has served as mayor of the nearby New York state city since 1941.

Modern Motel To Be Built on Route Six Near Corry

Corry Journal: Construction of a new and modern 14-unit motel on Route 6 near the east city line is scheduled to get underway within the next few weeks.

William Armitage, operator of the Emblem Oil Co. service station on North Center street, stated that the contract has been let to the J. M. Rickers contracting firm for erection of the binder block and brick units.

The motel will be similar to those which have been developed through the south and west, Mr. Armitage explained, and will be modern in every detail. About half of the units, which will measure 11 by 13 feet, will be equipped with kitchenettes for the convenience of travelers wishing to stay in the city over a weekend.

Located on property recently purchased from Michael Kundrack of this city, the motel will be almost directly opposite the new Corry-Jamestown plant along Route 6. Since construction will be started as soon as possible, it may be possible to open the motel this fall, Mr. Armitage explained, at the same time stating progress on the construction hinges on the weather. Plans call for the structure to be erected in a U shape with six units plus the office facing the highway and four units on both ends perpendicular to the road. Such an arrangement also provides for later expansion, Mr. Armitage stated, if the demand warrants it.

California leads the nation in the production of peaches for both fresh and canned markets.

W P L REPORTING

More phonograph records are being added to the Warren Public Library collection and the recent ones are of the long playing variety. The library has had requests for vocal selections as well as orchestral records and these requests are being filled as quickly as possible. Suggestions for the purchase of different types of records are a great help in building the collection. Recently, there have been requests for record albums as memorials and this, of course, helps a great deal in supplementing the budget for this item.

A lovely album of songs by Robert Schumann, and sung by Blanche Thebom, has been placed in memory of Mrs. H. D. Baldwin. The book, Ballet Design, Past and Present, by Beaumont, also, is a memorial in honor of Mrs. Baldwin.

Other memorials include the following:

For Mrs. Elsa Dieckarch—Age of Elegance, by Bryant.
For Mrs. Carl Elmquist—Heart of Asia, by Andrews; Along the Maine Coast, by Mitchell; Peace Can Be Won, by Hoffman; Journey For Our Time, by Cistine.

For Edward Henderson—Tito and Goliath, by Armstrong; Appraising Manual, by McMichael; Streamer Fly Fishing in Salt Water, by Bates; Modern Dry Fly Code, by Mariano.

For Mrs. J. W. Kendall—Nature's Ways, by Andrews; Penna. Dutch Folk songs, by Boyer.
For Virgil King—Aircraft Yearbook.

For Everett Quay McCune—Tropics: World of Tomorrow, by Wilson.

For J. Albert Rockwell—The History of the World, by Sedillot; After the Lost Generation, by Albridge.

For Ruth Tillotson Wade—Ballad of the Sad Cafe, by McCullers; Introduction to Shakespeare, by Chute; American Fold Art, by Lipman; Homes of America, by Pickering.

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service
Bridge players find the funniest things to argue about. The defenders in today's hand, for example, talked themselves hoarse on what seemed to be a fine point of defense. The trouble is that they both missed the sure-fire play.

West opened the queen of diamonds, and South won with the ace. He entered dummy with the king of clubs to lead a heart. When East played low, South finessed the nine of hearts. This lost to West's ten, and South had to ruff the diamond return. Declarer remembered that the ten of clubs had dropped under dummy's king, so he hopefully laid down the ace of clubs. When East dropped the queen, South drew one round of trumps with the ace and then led the five of clubs towards dummy's nine.

West thought for a second or two and then stepped up with the jack of clubs. East thought for three or four seconds and ruffed with the ten of spades in order to return a heart through South's ace-queen.

This play didn't work because South had the eight of clubs. He played the ace of hearts, drew a second round of trumps with his king, and then led his established eight of clubs. West had to follow suit, and dummy discarded the last low heart. Then South was in position to ruff his queen of hearts, after which he could afford to give up a trump-trick to West's queen.

East defended his ruff and heart return by pointing out that it would have been the correct play if West instead of South happened to have the eight of clubs. West said he would have returned a club if allowed to hold the trick with the jack of clubs.

Then South would have to guess a very unusual line of play to make the contract. (He'd have to ruff the fourth-club with the jack of spades, lead to the king of spades, and then put West in with a trump to force a heart return up to the ace-queen.)

They argued for a long time about which defense was better. Should West be allowed to give declarer a guess—or should East rely on the location of the eight of clubs? They both missed the one play that couldn't fail. When South leads the third club, South should play low, allowing East to

What Well-Dressed Girl Will Wear to College This Term

By DOROTHY BOE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The annual big push is on, to make real-life college girls look like they do in the movies.

Each year about this time tons of newspaper, rivers of printer's ink and millions of words are poured forth on the subject of what the well-dressed girl will wear to college.

Bravely optimistic, fashion magazine staffs predict that this year's college girl will look neat and sweet, glad in plaid, piquant in pique or cute in corduroy. They exhort her to cultivate the "clean, shining American look," remind her that this is the year for femininity with a capital F, urge her to be a belle in bell skirts over crinolines.

Department stores open their college shops with displays of what their buyers think college girls should wear, against a background of pennants, footballs and classroom impedimenta. Advisers are on hand, fresh from leading college campuses, to help confused freshmen choose their wardrobes lavishly.

For the rest of this month a disinterested observer might think the fate of the world would hang on whether Betty College chooses the "Little Boy look," the "clean-cut look" or the "shaggy dog look" for her 1957 college term.

All this effort on the part of magazine staffs and ad writers likely will be a study in futility.

For what Betty probably will wear this year is just what she's been wearing on campus for 10, these many years—blue jeans, preferably patched, a frayed shirt or old sweat shirt discarded by father or brother, bulky socks and moccasins.

This is provided, of course, that Betty goes to a women's college. The coed institutions often live up to the ad-writers' dreams, as girls dress for a male audience, in class or out.

Parents preparing to visit a daughter in one of the famous eastern women's colleges a couple of months hence should prepare themselves for a shock. After having paid the bills for Betty's college wardrobe they probably expect naively to find Betty looking like the cover girl on a popular magazine.

It's often a painful scene when Betty comes leaping into the dormitory reception room to greet her fond parents looking like a soiled Huckleberry Finn. Mom is likely to shriek in horror:

"But dear, what happened to those lovely sweaters and skirts you brought?"

And pop is almost sure to demand: "Why don't you anyway comb your hair?"

Betty views all these fuddy-duddy antics with fond and superior indulgence.

"Why you old darlings," she probably retorts, "all the girls look like this. It's considered bad taste to be clothes-conscious. One freshman actually brought a fur coat with her, and of course she was simply embarrassed to death until she sent it back home."
